Hopes It Removes Speculation

Kennedy's Letter Declares Confidence In Stevenson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy hopes his public declaration of "fullest confidence" in Adlai Stevenson will put an end to speculation that the U.N. ambassador may be on his way out.

A "Dear Adlai" letter from Kennedy to Stevenson was made public by the White House Wednesday night. Officials said the decision to give it out was prompted by the President's determination to try to remove any uncertainty about Stevenson's future.

The speculation stemmed from publication of a Saturday Evening Post article written by two Washington reporters, Stewart Alsop and Charles Bartlett, a close friend of the President.

The article quoted anonymous officials as saying that at the outset of the Cuban crisis Stevenson dissented from Kennedy's decision to throw a naval blockade around Cuba and advocated a softer approach.

Denials by the White House and by Stevenson, coupled with statements that Stevenson had in fact supported the blockade decision, failed to quiet the speculation. Officials decided the tempest could be stilled only by personal action by Kennedy.

The letter, read to newsmen by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, made two major points:

1. That Kennedy has the "fullest confidence" in Stevenson and has valued his advice "very highly."

2. That Stevenson will continue as ambassador at the United Nations.

The letter also showed that Kennedy is satisfied the Soviet Union's withdrawing of missiles and bombers from Cuba has effectively ended the nuclear threat to U.S. security. The President said without qualification "We have eliminated the nuclear menace from Cuba."

He cited that point in his letter to Stevenson as evidence of "the prudence of our policy and its execution, in which you played such an active part."

The White House said Kennedy's letter reached Stevenson at the United Nations about noon Wednesday. But there were indications Stevenson had been satisfied after a Monday conference with Kennedy that he had the President's backing in spite of the implication in the article that someone in the administration might be trying to put an end to his U.N. career.

Associates said Tuesday that if Stevenson had not been satisfied about the President's position he would have resigned already.

Kennedy wrote Stevenson that "this is just a note to tell you again how deeply I regret the unfortunate stir which has arisen over the statements contained in the Saturday Evening Post article."

'Hung' Jury Dismissed In Roberta Smith Trial

Prosecutor To Request New Trial

BULLETIN!
A Common Pleas Court jury of nine women and three men today was dismissed at Lisbon after the panel was unable to reach a verdict in the trial of Roberta C. Smith, ex-city water department clerk charged with embezzling $23,481 in department funds. The panel reported it could not come to any conclusion in the case. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw said he plans to try the case again but does not know when the trial will be held.

Apparently deadlocked after long deliberations, a Common Pleas Court jury seeking to determine the guilt or innocence of Miss Roberta C. Smith in connection with an alleged $23,841 embezzlement in the East Liverpool water department office emerged from its locked room in the Courthouse at Lisbon shortly before noon for additional instructions.

The panel of nine women and three men entered the court chamber at 11:25 this morning and asked Judge Joel H. Sharp for a definition of embezzlement.

The judge then read a section of the state code covering such offenses.

Atty. Frank W. Springer, defense counsel, then asked that the jury be instructed that Miss Smith is not responsible for any money she did not receive. The judge instructed the jurors that the state charged Miss Smith with embezzling sums shown on her books.

The panel, unable to reach a verdict by 4 p. m. Wednesday, was recessed overnight by Judge Joel H. Sharp who, in view of the lengthy deliberations, cautioned the jury not to "let emotions become involved."

All members of the jury arrived at the Courthouse despite the snowy roads and they resumed deliberations at 9:30 this morning.

Gets Case Wednesday

The panel took the case at 10:05 a. m. yesterday after receiving instruction on the law regarding embezzlement, reasonable doubt and other legal aspects related to its decision.

Following lunch, the panel re-

Tax On Pay Is Continued For Midland

Council Re-Enacts 1% Wage Levy For Coming Year

Midland Council Wednesday night at a special meeting re-enacted for the coming year its 1 per cent wage or income tax on all employed in the borough.

The tax was enacted July 12, effective Aug. 12, after the state courts ruled against a $10 a year occupation tax earlier in the year.

At the meeting, June 14 when Council announced its intentions to pass the tax, it was contended that a full 1 per cent tax was needed to replace revenue the borough would lose and to balance the borough books.

It was estimated then that the tax would bring in about $120,000 for the August - December period. According to a recent report for the period Aug. 12 to Sept. 30, $27,961.78 was deposited.

Over 3,000 out-of-state employes in Midland are affected. The tax is payroll deductible.

Council said in the past that an additional tax source was needed to pay the higher costs of operating and maintaining the borough. It was also faced an increased loss in machinery taxes of the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. over the last four years.

Under a law, Crucible could have dropped the machinery tax at once but voluntarily agreed to decrease the amount it paid each year over the five years.

Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, said in October that a loss of $14,000 is expected in the machinery tax next year, the last year for the tax. The school district can expect a loss of $35,000, he said then.

In other business Council authorized Crucible Steel to dump slag refuse on the northwest corner of the company's property in the Murphy Hill Rd. area.

Council approved a motion granting permission rather than make a change in the borough's zoning ordinance.

Council said last night the dumping should be limited to any open hearth and processed slag and not contain any oil, waste or garbage.

Approval was given on a motion by Councilman Raymond Presutti. The only dissenting vote was that of Councilman Steve Germusa.

The area to be filled in is mostly a ravine. The company said that when filled in 10 or 15 years, the land would be more valuable and suitable for 30 residential lots.

Funds Voted; Street Crews Draw Wages

Nineteen street department employes drew pay checks belatedly today after Council met in special session shortly before midnight Wednesday to vote funds to replenish the overdrawn salary account.

The brief supplemental appropriation ordinance, enacted unanimously, provides $6,600.

It's enough to meet the $3,282 payroll today for the last half of November and make up for a previously overdraft, but more money probably will have to be voted to round out the balance of December, Councilman George E. Willshaw said. He is chairman of the finance committee.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet made a special trip to City Hall to sign the fund ordinance into law immediately after it had been enacted. The mayor's signature was the last barrier to implementation of the ordinance. The legislation carried an emergency clause providing it would go into effect immediately after his approval.

Council called the special meeting yesterday morning after City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate declined to issue pay checks to the street department employes. He said the department's appropriation for wages and salaries are exhausted and he had no legal right to disburse funds.

The finance committee had scheduled a meeting last night at 7:30 with the auditor and his chief clerk, Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver, to review the fiscal situation. However, it was canceled because Applegate and Mrs. Oliver were ill, apparently as an aftermath of flu shots city employes received Tuesday afternoon.

Yesterday was the regular payday for city employes. All other city workers received their checks on schedule.

Mayor Goodballet thanked the councilmen on behalf of himself and Safety-Service Director Robert Owen "for coming out on a night such as this to enact this legislation." He said he felt the street department workers also would appreciate Council's concern.

There was about two inches of rutted, wet slush on the streets when the councilmen drove to the meeting. Several hurried to the

Waterford Victim's Body Discovered On Beaver Property

A New Waterford bulldozer operator at a strip mine in Darlington Township, Beaver County, was killed Wednesday apparently by an unknown hunter's rifle bullet, Pennsylvania State Police said.

The body of John James Oliver, 36, of New Waterford R. D. 1 was found by Warren James Kale of East Palestine R. D. 1 at 3 p. m. yesterday in the strip mine about a mile north of Darlington.

The body was removed to the Henry Funeral Home at Lisbon. Time of the death was fixed by Beaver County Coroner, Dr. John W. Colavincenzo as 9 a. m. yesterday.

The body was found about 1,000 feet from the bulldozer Mr. Oliver had been operating. He was found on the property of the McCready Heirs of New Galilee, which had been leased to Ralph A. Veon of Enon Valley for stripping.

Mr. Oliver was an employe of Veon and working as an equipment operator. Kale also is employed by Veon.

An investigation is being continued by the Beaver Falls barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police and Beaver County Game Protector Harry Mertz of Beaver R. D. 1.

Mr. Oliver was born Sept. 11, 1926, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oliver of Leetonia and was a lifetime resident of the area.

He was a member of the New Waterford Methodist Church and served in the Seabees in World War II.

Surviving are his widow, the former Mary Dillon, and a daughter, Charlotte Oliver, both of the home; six brothers, Edwin G. Oliver of Canton, Robert Oliver of Alliance, William Oliver and Francis M. Oliver, both of Columbiana, James E. Oliver of Salem and George R. Oliver of

Chile May Arrest High Ex-Nazi For War Crimes

SANTIACO, Chile (AP)—The arrest of a higher ex-Nazi on war crimes charges may follow the detention here of a former Nazi colonel accused of ordering the gassing of 90,000 Jews in World War II.

Patrick Weichman, head of the international police organization Interpol in Chile, said Wednesday night "an even higher Nazi war criminal" was bleieved to be in this country and his arrest may follow soon.

He made the statement after former Col. Walter Herman Julius Rauff appeared before the Supreme Court and declared his innocence of the war crimes for which West Germany is seeking his extradition.

Weichman refused to name the second man whose arrest is expected.

Last March, Martin Bormann, Adolf Hitler's deputy party chief, was reported located in Chile, but the suspect turned out to be another man. Bormann was reported to have met death in attempting to escape from Berlin in 1945 and was declared legally dead eight years ago by a West German court. But rumors that he is alive keep cropping up.

Rauff was an office colleague of Adolf Eichmann who was executed in Israel last May 31 for complicity in the death of six million Jews. Rauff was arrested in Punta Arenas, Chile's southernmost city, on Tuesday.

Burglar Fails To Open Safe

A burglar tried unsuccessfully to batter open a safe in the office of Hune, Inc., 237 W. 8th St., Wednesday night or early today, then hauled away 185 cartons of cigarettes valued at close to $400, police reported.

Patrolman William A. Devon reported the intruder used the company's own tools — a crowbar, a punch and a drill — in an unsuccessful attempt to batter or pry open the door of a 48-x-36-inch wall safe. Part of the outer metal cover of the door was "peeled" downward with the crowbar, he said.

The wall safe is mounted behind a door that matches the paneling in the office.

The intruder entered the building by breaking a pane of glass in the upper sash of a second-floor window, then manipulating the catch. Located on old W. 8th St., the narrow lane parallel with Webber Way, the building's second floor is at a level near an embankment that allowed the intruder to step from the ground through the window. The intruder attacked the upper pane because the lower section of sash was covered with a screen.

Area's First Snow Might Grow Deeper

County Reports Up To 5 Inches; Road Cindering Required

The first substantial snow of the season blanketed the Tri-State area today, and the fall of up to 5 inches snarled traffic for awhile, caused some utility interruptions and delayed or halted several school buses. Schools remained open however. All district highway crews spent the night cindering.

The city had a smattering of snow in late October, although parts of the county got up to 3 inches in that storm, but last night's fall was heavier and more general.

The city had about 2 inches and over 5 inches was reported elsewhere in Columbiana County.

The Ohio weatherman issued a heavy snow warning of new snow today for an accumulation of 4 to 10 inches but the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia said it was advised this morning there will be light snow diminishing to flurries tonight.

An accumulation of up to 20 inches was expected in some northeastern counties.

The Leetonia garage had 14 cindering crews on the job all night and county highway department crews also were out during the night.

7 Charges Filed

Owner Of Raided Club Is Arrested

Warrants listing six specific charges of violating West Virginia gaming and liquor laws and another alleging "hindering and obstructing" a law-enforcement officer in the discharge of his duties were filed against William Watson, reputed owner of the Rio Club, Wednesday night in the office of Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Hancock County Constables Harold Davis of Chester, J. Carl Durham of Newell and Sam Swain of New Cumberland charged Watson in connection with a surprise raid on the gaming casino behind the Cactus Bar early Sunday morning.

A waitress in the Rio Club—Margaret Rose Liston of Hookstown R. D. 1 — and a Weirton man described as the club's door guard — John Ruston — are also charged with violations by the three officers.

Watson posted $3,550 bond and the waitress put up $50 bond Wednesday night to await hearings tonight at 7 before Squire Allison. Rushton posted $100 bond Sunday and is also slated for a hearing at the same hour.

The officers filed these charges against Watson:

"Permitting slot machines, a barbut table, an electric gaming clock, and blackjack table to be kept and exhibited in the Rio Club, possession for sale of non-intoxicating beer without a license, possession for sale of a quantity of liquor, and forcibly hindering and obstructing Constable Durham in the lawful discharge of his duties."

The constables said keeping and exhibiting each of the gaming devices constitutes a violation. Sale of liquor is banned in the state except for state-operated stores.

The charge of "hindering and obstructing" Constable Durham stems from a struggle by Watson to obtain the search and seizure warrants the officer was holding

U.S. Fires Atlas ICBM On Its Last Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Karel J. Bossart, Belgium-born aeronautical engineer, watched proudly from atop a missile hangar as a great silvery projectile labored from its launching pad.

The 135-ton monster slowly picked up speed as its tons of fuel were consumed by three thirsty engines. Gradually it pitched over on a southeast heading and sped from sight.

Bossart, known as the "father" of the Atlas intercontinental range missile, received word minutes later that this Atlas was well on its way to a target 5,000 miles down the Atlantic tracing range.

The launching Wednesday was the last test for America's premier ICBM, closing out a flight program which began 5½ years ago on the same launching pad.

Bossarts recalled that Atlas originally was conceived as a much larger vehicle, with five main engines and takeoff thrust of nearly 700,000 pounds, compared with 389,000 pounds for the most powerful breed of present-day Atlas.

In 1946, the Air Force awarded General Dynamics-Astronautics a contract to develop an intercontinental range missile capable of hurling a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles—4,800 miles farther than any U.S. missile had flown. The company named Bossart project engineer.

4 Are Injured In Crashes On Slicked Roads

Patrol Lists Series Of Accidents Over County Highways

At least four district residents were injured in a series of highway mishaps Wednesday, many attributed to hazardous road conditions caused by snow, fog and ice, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Officers said Chick pulled out of a private drive into the path of the woman's auto, which received moderate damage.

Hassell Burcatt, 37, of Salineville R. D. 2, a passenger in an auto driven by Albert McKelvy of Salineville R. D. 2, received bruises of the forehead when the car rammed guardrails on Route 518 about 6 p. m.

The city had a smattering of snow in late October, although parts of the county got up to 3 inches in that storm, but last night's fall was heavier and more general.

The city had about 2 inches and over 5 inches was reported elsewhere in Columbiana County.

The Ohio weatherman issued a heavy snow warning of new snow today for an accumulation of 4 to 10 inches but the State Highway Department garage at Leetonia said it was advised this morning there will be light snow diminishing to flurries tonight.

An accumulation of up to 20 inches was expected in some northeastern counties.

The Leetonia garage had 14 cindering crews on the job all night and county highway department crews also were out during the night.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—"A big ship coming from the north" shelled Las Villas Province on the northeastern coast of Cuba Tuesday night, Havana radio reported today.

The broadcast, monitored here, said the ship was manned by a Cuban counter-revolutionary crew. It said cannon and machine guns were fired upon San Francisco beach, about 18 miles from the city of Caibarien.

7 Charges Filed

Owner Of Raided Club Is Arrested

Warrants listing six specific charges of violating West Virginia gaming and liquor laws and another alleging "hindering and obstructing" a law-enforcement officer in the discharge of his duties were filed against William Watson, reputed owner of the Rio Club, Wednesday night in the office of Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Hancock County Constables Harold Davis of Chester, J. Carl Durham of Newell and Sam Swain of New Cumberland charged Watson in connection with a surprise raid on the gaming casino behind the Cactus Bar early Sunday morning.

A waitress in the Rio Club—Margaret Rose Liston of Hookstown R. D. 1 — and a Weirton man described as the club's door guard — John Ruston — are also charged with violations by the three officers.

Watson posted $3,550 bond and the waitress put up $50 bond Wednesday night to await hearings tonight at 7 before Squire Allison. Rushton posted $100 bond Sunday and is also slated for a hearing at the same hour.

The officers filed these charges against Watson:

"Permitting slot machines, a barbut table, an electric gaming clock, and blackjack table to be kept and exhibited in the Rio Club, possession for sale of non-intoxicating beer without a license, possession for sale of a quantity of liquor, and forcibly hindering and obstructing Constable Durham in the lawful discharge of his duties."

The constables said keeping and exhibiting each of the gaming devices constitutes a violation. Sale of liquor is banned in the state except for state-operated stores.

The charge of "hindering and obstructing" Constable Durham stems from a struggle by Watson to obtain the search and seizure warrants the officer was holding

5,000 Miles Down Range

U.S. Fires Atlas ICBM On Its Last Test Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Karel J. Bossart, Belgium-born aeronautical engineer, watched proudly from atop a missile hangar as a great silvery projectile labored from its launching pad.

The 135-ton monster slowly picked up speed as its tons of fuel were consumed by three thirsty engines. Gradually it pitched over on a southeast heading and sped from sight.

Bossart, known as the "father" of the Atlas intercontinental range missile, received word minutes later that this Atlas was well on its way to a target 5,000 miles down the Atlantic tracing range.

The launching Wednesday was the last test for America's premier ICBM, closing out a flight program which began 5½ years ago on the same launching pad.

Bossarts recalled that Atlas originally was conceived as a much larger vehicle, with five main engines and takeoff thrust of nearly 700,000 pounds, compared with 389,000 pounds for the most powerful breed of present-day Atlas.

In 1946, the Air Force awarded General Dynamics-Astronautics a contract to develop an intercontinental range missile capable of hurling a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles—4,800 miles farther than any U.S. missile had flown. The company named Bossart project engineer.

4 Are Injured In Crashes On Slicked Roads

Patrol Lists Series Of Accidents Over County Highways

At least four district residents were injured in a series of highway mishaps Wednesday, many attributed to hazardous road conditions caused by snow, fog and ice, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Anne T. Ward, 70, of 425 North Ave., East Palestine, suffered a sprained shoulder and bruised leg when her car and one operated by Ross Chick, 78, of 103 W. Main St., East Palestine, collided on Route 170 about a mile south of Route 14 at 4 p. m.

Officers said Chick pulled out of a private drive into the path of the woman's auto, which received moderate damage.

Hassell Burcatt, 37, of Salineville R. D. 2, a passenger in an auto driven by Albert McKelvy of Salineville R. D. 2, received bruises of the forehead when the car rammed guardrails on Route 518 about 6 p. m.

McKelvy, 35, was driving west

Driver Termed 'Fair' After Route 39 Crash

Mrs. Sandra Temple, 23, of Salineville remains in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with facial lacerations suffered when her car rolled over an embankment on Route 39 near Salineville Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Temple, wife of the Salineville High School band director and teacher at Wayne School, was en route to school when the mishap occurred. It still is being investigated by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Health Head Urges Parents Buy Sensible And Safe Toys

LISBON — "The time is fast approaching when our children will be 'nestled all snug in their beds, while visions of sugar plums dance in their heads'."

"We can be sure to make that wondrous next day and the following days safe for our children by selecting sensible toys for Christmas.

"Accidents are the leading cause of death and injury to children and improperly chosen toys are often the cause," warns Dr. C. S. Palmer, Columbiana County health commissioner.

Almost all young children tend to place toys in their mouths at one time or another and toys painted with lead paint can be a definite hazard.

Lead poisoning still causes approximately 60 deaths yearly among children in the United States and many more instances of serious illness. Most manufacturers use safe paint on toys. The label on paints used on toys or children's furniture should be marked, "Confroms to American standard for use on surfaces which might be chewed."

Toys such as BB guns, sling shots, blank pistols, darts, bows and arrow, among others, have caused severe injuries and blindness.

To these are now added the new atom and space - age toys such as atom pistols, space missiles, rockets and other replicas of today's war equipment and science fiction inventions. Toy guns from which children may shoot projectiles at others are always potentially harmful. Such gifts should be accompanied by strict enforcement of safety rules.

Some plastic materials are so flammable that the slightest contact with a lighted cigarette or match will set off a blaze that might disfigure for life or cause blindness and even death.

Certain types of plastic will burst into flame even when at some distance from fire. Others may break with razor - sharp jagged edges. Most American Toy manufacturers use plastics that do not break easily and are non-flammable, but low-cost imports are not always so safe.

Almost every ear, nose and throat doctor has a collection of objects which he has removed from children's throats, lungs and stomachs. Doctors have asked manufacturers to stop making dolls and stuffed animals with eyes that come out easily. Mothers should remove such eyes and embroider new ones in their place. Construction kits are excellent toys for the older child, but the small pieces may be deadly to the toddler who examines everything not only with his hands but with his mouth.

Ordinary household items such as cardboard boxes, cutouts from magazines and old pots and pans often make the best, least expensive and safest toys for small children."

How often a fond relative brings an elaborate toy to a tot and finds to his dismay that the little one has put aside the toy and is happily playing with the box and wrappings," Dr. Palmer commented.

5 In Police Theft Ring To Be Arraigned

CLEVELAND (AP) — William Marlowe and four men he implicated as members of an alleged police burglary ring were to be arraigned today before Municipal Court Judge Edward F. Feighan on grand larceny and burglary charges.

Police Chief Frank Story said an all-out investigation will continue in an effort to "get the whole truth" concerning alleged operations of the patrolmen, all members of the same platoon on the West Side.

Story described Marlowe, 40, as the ringleader in a series of thefts that netted $3,000 over an 18-month period. He has admitted the thefts and named 10 other men as being involved, Story said.

Three patrolmen are charged with grand larceny along with Marlowe in connection with the June 21, 1961, theft of $400 from the Brookpark Gulf service station. The three were identified by Story as Henry Wankowski, 28; Joe Kish, 35, and Carl Krist, 41.

Story said Raymond Ollie, 28, and Marlowe are charged with taking a safe containing $40 from the Yankee Distributing Co. last June 11. The safe was found discarded in a coal yard.

Marlowe is charged also with Monday's burglary of the Bahr Lumber Co. He was arrested as he came out of the lumber company carrying $67 in marked bills that police had planted in the safe. He resigned shortly after his arrest.

Six other men named by Marlowe are being released because of insufficient evidence, but the investigation is continuing, Story said.

Iceland Girl, 16, Sends Fish For Pen Pal 'Bait'

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—An Iceland girl has embarked on a fishing trip for a pen pal with a long cast of her bait as far into these temperate zones as Ironton.

This long distance fishing expedition came to light this week when Mrs. David E. Dean of Ironton opened a package of frozen ocean perch to prepare it for the evening meal.

Concealed within the package was a piece of parchment wrapped in waterproof paper. The paper read:

"Shirley Felton, Hofsvallagvtu, 22, Reykjavik, Iceland. I am 16 years old and would like a boy or girl pen-pal from America. I have been in America 12 years so I write English well."

Acquittal Of Youth Draws Judge's Wrath

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Criminal Court jury has acquitted Frederick Wilson of Cincinnati on a murder charge in the robbery-slaying of a service station attendant.

The verdict Wednesday drew wrath from Judge Charles Bell who said, "This court is at a loss as to how in the evidence in this case you ever came to such a conclusion."

Wilson, 18, was the last of five young men indicted on first-degree murder charges in the death Jan. 7 of Robert Whitis.

The other four face life terms in prison.

Columbus Man, 56, Suffocates In Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 56-year-old Columbus man suffocated in a fire in his bedroom early today. Fire officials said William Dixon was dead when they arrived at his home.

Officials said the cause probably was a lighted cigarette dropped on the mattress. They estimated damage at $100.

Contract talks involving Teamsters Local 473, which represents J. Seldin said both sides are preparing alternate proposals but are in recess subject to call.

The Guild called a membership meeting for tonight.

Guild negotiations thus far have covered only exchange of contract language on the job security issue, a spokesman for the union said. There has been no hard bargaining on union security and wages, he said.

New Printing Firm Will Serve Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Blank Book Co. is in and the Heer Printing Co., Columbus Co., Columbus, is out after 50 years as printer for the Ohio General Assembly.

Common Pleas Court Judge George C. Marshall Wednesday reversed a State Controlling Board contract award of last week on grounds the board made the award without considering competitive bids.

He declared Heer's contract void, giving Columbus Blank Book a plum that grossed Heer about $350,000 during the last legislature session.

The Controlling Board had cited Heer's long experience as a factor in its decision.

Contract talks involving Teamsters Local 473, which represents J. Seldin said both sides are preparing alternate proposals but are in recess subject to call.

The Guild called a membership meeting for tonight.

Guild negotiations thus far have covered only exchange of contract language on the job security issue, a spokesman for the union said. There has been no hard bargaining on union security and wages, he said.

Iceland Girl, 16, Sends Fish For Pen Pal 'Bait'

IRONTON, Ohio (AP)—An Iceland girl has embarked on a fishing trip for a pen pal with a long cast of her bait as far into these temperate zones as Ironton.

This long distance fishing expedition came to light this week when Mrs. David E. Dean of Ironton opened a package of frozen ocean perch to prepare it for the evening meal.

Concealed within the package was a piece of parchment wrapped in waterproof paper. The paper read:

"Shirley Felton, Hofsvallagvtu, 22, Reykjavik, Iceland. I am 16 years old and would like a boy or girl pen-pal from America. I have been in America 12 years so I write English well."

Acquittal Of Youth Draws Judge's Wrath

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Criminal Court jury has acquitted Frederick Wilson of Cincinnati on a murder charge in the robbery-slaying of a service station attendant.

The verdict Wednesday drew wrath from Judge Charles Bell who said, "This court is at a loss as to how in the evidence in this case you ever came to such a conclusion."

Wilson, 18, was the last of five young men indicted on first-degree murder charges in the death Jan. 7 of Robert Whitis.

The other four face life terms in prison.

Columbus Man, 56, Suffocates In Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 56-year-old Columbus man suffocated in a fire in his bedroom early today. Fire officials said William Dixon was dead when they arrived at his home.

Officials said the cause probably was a lighted cigarette dropped on the mattress. They estimated damage at $100.

New Printing Firm Will Serve Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Columbus Blank Book Co. is in and the Heer Printing Co., Columbus Co., Columbus, is out after 50 years as printer for the Ohio General Assembly.

Common Pleas Court Judge George C. Marshall Wednesday reversed a State Controlling Board contract award of last week on grounds the board made the award without considering competitive bids.

He declared Heer's contract void, giving Columbus Blank Book a plum that grossed Heer about $350,000 during the last legislature session.

More Bang For A Buck

Defense Secretary McNamara's proposed reorganization of National Guard and Army Reserve patterns, to bring them up to date in military terms, has made him the target of widespread misgivings and red-hot anger.

This is a touchy subject.

The National Guard is nominally under the control of state governors—but only nominally because it is ultimately under control of the commander-in-chief and its financial fate is in the hands of Congress.

It will be human nature and good politics in some states to make it appear that Secretary McNamara is trying a sinister trick to get his hands on states' rights. Governors and friends of the National Guard will be tempted to go all-out on this theme, and some will show no restraint.

THEY MAY WIN some points. They may put enough pressure on the Department of Defense to force changes in the reorganization plans. But in the long pull, Secretary McNamara must be favored to win most of the points.

He has two advantages: purse and persuasion.

He is responsible to Congress for getting the greatest possible value out of defense dollars. He is in daily contact with members of Congress who confirm and reject proposed changes in military organization.

His clinching argument will be that no reduction in personnel is contemplated, only an increase in the efficiency of existing personnel. This is as much in the interest of state governors as it is of military planners.

It is a continuation of the military streamlining that Secretary McNamara has been working on since he went to Washington in 1961—and in a larger sense it is a continuation of the streamlining that has been going on intermittently since the end of World War II, especially under President Eisenhower.

THE INEXORABLE persuasion of logic will back Secretary McNamara. On most points it can be expected to overcome the noisier and more emotional protests of traditionalists and sentimentalists.

No one wants to see them humiliated or their spirit broken, but neither does anyone want to see the dynamic young secretary of defense backed into a corner on his momentous project of giving U.S. taxpayers "more bang for a buck," as one of his colorful predecessors on the job liked to phrase it.

'What Christmas Really Means'

Cathy McLain, a sixth-grader at Westgate School, has written a composition about Christmas.

In a note to the editor which accompanied the article, Cathy had this to say: "When I wrote this story about Christmas my teacher and even my father thought I should put it in the paper. They said it was very good. If you put it in the paper I would appreciate it very much."

We agree with the others, the composition is well done and expresses a feeling too often overlooked at this season of the year. With the hope that it will create more serious thought about Christmas, Cathy's composition is being repeated. It is entitled "What Christmas Really Means".

"Christmas is not just a time for presents and a big dinner; Christmas is the time we should stop and ask ourselves, What is Christmas?"

"Long ago on Dec. 25, in a town called Bethlehem, a baby was born in a manger instead of a bed. This baby's name was Jesus. Everyone had been waiting for the coming of the Messiah. It was a day everyone had waited for.

"So in about three weeks when Christmas is here go to church and celebrate Christ's birthday. Sing carols, praise God and especially don't forget to keep Christ in Christmas. Please remember, 'Peace on earth, good will towards men'."

This Would Be The Time

If it's Kremlin policy to win friends and influence people, instead of making enemies and scaring the wits out of everybody, this would be the time to prove it.

U Thant, United Nations secretary-general, has laid it on the line for the General Assembly. Either it must collect assessments due for special activities in the Congo and the Near East, or the United Nations will be bankrupt.

The catch in collecting the assessments has been Russia's refusal to pay, on purely technical grounds that have been cut away legally by the World Court of International Justice. Other countries also are delinquent, but if Russia set the right example they would be forced to follow along.

As it is, some of the other countries are in mood to spend money they can save by taking advantage of Russia's precedent. They think there is bargaining power in being in arrears; that other countries will be reluctant to push them too far lest they drop out of the United Nations entirely.

Why not test them out by serving notice they will be dropped from membership automatically if their checks are not in the mail by Jan. 1? Anybody want to bet they wouldn't break their backs to get them there in time?

Will We Shoot Santa Claus?

Is Santa Claus on the way out?

The jolly little elf who, down through the centuries, has brought so much happiness and sheer delight to children (and adults) at Christmastide must inevitably be hurt by the sophistication of our age.

Mimicked by gaunt red-suited human scarecrows on street corners, in department stores and at organization parties; heard over the radio for weeks before Christmas, in many different voices; lampooned in sophisticated TV comedy routines; landed in this town and that town by helicopter, conventional aircraft, reindeer and even fire engines, can the classical concept of Santa long survive?

Comes now the latest threat to belief in St. Nick. Three young believers heard on the radio that Santa had been arrested in Cincinnati for working on Sunday.

Deeply concerned about the jailed elf's ability to deliver presents when behind bars, and equally worried about what would happen when Christmas comes on Sunday, they wrote a letter to Ohio's governor.

The governor replied they need not worry, that no law made by man can destroy the spirit of Christmas.

But the lawful behavior and activities of men which distort, ridicule and deglamorize Santa Claus can disenchant young believers and may lead to the elf's demise.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Here is a gimmick with great possibilities for families overstocked with cookies, candy, window cleaner, Christmas cards and other items to sell to raise money for the various clubs that members of the family belong to.

This merchandise has a way of piling up until Mom and Pop shell out the coin to buy all the stuff and keep the club solvent. Our household, for example, has enough window cleaner to make a 10-story apartment house sparkle for a decade.

Our gimmick, still in its infancy and operating on a trial basis, is to unload as much as possible on door-to-door sales people who make regular stops at the house — a brush man, a household supply chap, a lady with a line of female garments and a lady with gook of all kinds for milady's toilet. Turnabout is fair play.

Thoughts about football: the efficiency with which officials on the field pass the football to each other to get it back where it belongs for the next play is a wonder to watch. One reason we never played in a marching band is because we would be overcome with curiosity wondering how we looked in those fascinating formations the bands perform on the field at halftime; the other reason is because we never played a musical instrument. Whatever happened to the custom of playing high school games on Saturday afternoons, always the biggest event of the week to us oldtimers?

Encroachment of hunters in built-up areas has gone so far that the shot from their guns sometimes rattles against the windows and walls of occupied houses. This has been mentioned several times in irate letters to the editor and it happened to the house of a couple of friends of ours. Such carelessness to life and limb by hunters is the quickest way to turn a cold war into a shooting war.

We are only statistics in the federal census but a new wrinkle in the submergence of individuals in technology is the news that the Ohio State Library in Columbus is relegating our ancestors to holes in punch-cards to provide speedier information for persons seeking information about their Ohio forebears. A person could hardly be anything less than a hole, could he?

It came as a jolt to read that four 19th century white marble fireplace mantels had disappeared from the White House years ago. If such things happen in the White House we small householders have cause to quake. A closer reading of the story disclosed that the mantels vanished during one of the periodic renovating jobs performed by the White House and skulduggery was not necessarily involved. This only partly reassured us.

The Russian admission that the idyllic life on the Russian collective farms was being disrupted by young nogoodniks shipped from the cities to the farms for "re-education" gave us a lift and indicated again that a real utopia is still beyond reach.

Home movies have been the butt of many jokes but we know a fellow who as an amateur has taken movies of the flora and fauna of such places as the Rocky Mountains, Alaska, western Canada and the Everglades in Florida and we have enjoyed seeing the whole series in his home. So go ahead and laugh if you want to.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

It Sounds Like An Old Line

The Problem Of 'The Machine'

By Victor Riesel

When I was in London not so long ago, Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, visited Congress House, the national labor headquarters. On his way upstairs, the royal consort noticed in the center of the lobby — I was told later — a black metal contraption. It was an abstract exhibit left over from the previous week's art exhibition, which had been part of the Festival of Labor. Grinning, he walked over to George Lowthian, head of the building workers.

Victor Riesel

"Is that," queried the Prince, "a memorial to the unknown bricklayer?"

There was laughter. A friend of mine in the group of British labor leaders heard someone observe that it might as well be. "At the rate which machines are replacing manpower, we'll need a memorial to remind us of the handicraftsman."

MEMBERS OF the British Trades Union Congress 37-man General Council are Socialists, but some of them have been knighted by the Queen.

One evening Prince Philip had occasion to consult the General Council. Looking about him he sallied: "It is good to see so many working knights working nights."

Indeed they are. For they, like the American labor leaders, are much concerned with the changing of the old order, the innovation of fantastic automated machinery which is beginning to displace many workers.

So much is the older order changing in the land where weavers stoned and smashed the first textile machinery, that there is now concern lest Britain lose its identity and become just a cog in a vast automated world.

There even is serious talk of digging a tunnel under the English Channel if Britain joins the Common Market. Sir Leslie Ford, general manager of the Port of London, said some time ago that this would be a certainty.

"The 22-mile tunnel would have to be built to speed grade goods between the continent and England," said Sir Leslie.

OBVIOUSLY this is a brand new world with newer problems—and a group of men will meet soon in a transoceanic series of conferences to see what can be done to protect those who are displaced by these machines of the future.

Beginning on Dec. 10 there will be a five-day series of international conferences on how to live with The Machine and how it can be harnessed for the good of all. The conferences begin in London. Then they shift to the International Labor Office headquarters in Geneva.

Attending them will be prominent labor leaders, some industrialists and some eminent scholars from the United States, Britain and from virtually every nation in free Europe.

On the American side the conferences are sponsored by the Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc. This is cochaired by John Snyder president and chairman of U. S. Industries, Inc., and Al J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists.

The foundation is financed by U. S. Industries, which pays "dues" into the organization. The corporation sells automatic machinery including robots and taxes itself for every piece of equipment sold to finance the foundation's continuous studies of the impact of such machines on the wage earners and salaried people of American communities.

There is a companion English group called the Foundation on Automation and Employment, Ltd.

THE CHAIRMAN of the English counterpart is William J. Carron, president of the powerful British Amalgamated Engineering Union. Lord Robens, chairman of the British National Coal Board, is vice chairman of the Foundation, headquartered in London.

The first of the conferences, on Dec. 10, will be a gathering of scholars from the United States and more than 12 Western European universities. Then will come a conference which will be attended by such labor leaders as New York's Harry Van Arsdale, who launched the 5-hour day.

What will be studied in this first and unique series of gatherings will affect every crossroad in our modern world:

What is the nature of the employer's obligation, if any, to bargain with his workers over the closing or shifting of plants?

How to handle the transfer of job benefits and seniority when plants are shifted? What about featherbedding and surplus workers?

WHAT CAN the government, labor and management do to meet the emergencies of indispensable automation?

Is the shorter work week an answer?

What is the impact of automation, which has begun to make computor decisions bordering on major policy making?

What is the impact on middle management of the new automation and computors which make policy decisions? What can or cannot be achieved by retraining displaced workers? What about early retirement, severance pay?

Should there be wage and price restraints? And what are the obligations of the makers of machines to the workers they displace?

I will be there as a delegate of one of our government committees. We will not find many answers yet. But we will make a start.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

This last Monday night, the East Liverpool Jaycees' Board of Trustees and several additional members attended the meeting of the East Liverpool City Council.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Council for the unanimously warm reception they gave us. Their acceptance of our offer to help in promotion of a master plan proposal was indeed gratifying.

This action, and others in recent weeks, has made this City Council one which can be called the most progressive of latter years. The Jaycees congratulate them on progress toward vigorous city government.

Capital Chatterboxes

Security Council Leak Raises Questions

WASHINGTON

There's a chatterbox — or maybe a bunch of chatterboxes—in or close to President Kennedy's highly secret National Security Council.

The Washington Star suggests Kennedy use the FBI to find out who did the talking to the Saturday Evening Post about how the council advised the President on handling the Cuban crisis last October.

This would mean an investigation of those closest to the President. Meanwhile there's no assurance there won't be more blabbing after another secret meeting on another crisis.

The Post this week not only published an account of who said what at the October meeting and what measures were discussed but mentioned what was in an inter-office memorandum distributed in the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency.

Yet this week when Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, was asked to comment on the story he said: "Proceedings of the NSC have been secret since its founding in 1947 and will continue to be."

The magazine story was written by a close friend of the President, Charles Bartlett, Washington correspondent of the Chattanooga Times, and Stewart Alsop, who reportedly has close connections in the administration.

By itself their account of what was said at the meeting would cause surprise. But even that was subordinated to the storm raised by the part they said was played by Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

Their story said that even after a "consensus" of Kennedy's other advisers on the NSC said that a Cuban blockade should be the first step in a showdown with Russia, Stevenson "dissented" and even suggested making concessions to the Soviets by swapping Allied missile bases for Russia's Cuban missile bases.

This article was widely interpreted in Washington as a sign the Kennedy administration was putting the skids under Stevenson and wanted to bounce him.

What followed, as the storm got bigger, is curious in itself: Salinger read to reporters a White House statement saying "Stevenson strongly supported the decision taken by the President on the quarantine. . ." White House officials said the statement had been prepared with the knowledge and advice of the President.

The statement at first glance seemed to support what Stevenson by this time had already said: that he had favored a blockade. But on closer examination it looks ambiguous.

It didn't contradict the Post story by saying Stevenson agreed with the "consensus" of the council that there should be a blockade. Kennedy made his decision after hearing the council. The White House statement said only that Stevenson agreed with the President's decision.

Stevenson expanded Wednesday on the part he played in the council meeting.

On an NBC television show, Stevenson said the Bartlett-Alsop story was a "classic example of irresponsible journalism . . . untrue as to what I proposed and as to what I opposed."

He said he had "emphatically approved the blockade" and he denied advocating a swap of missile bases with Russia. Here in Washington there was a broad feeling Kennedy would have to give Stevenson personal and direct support if the ambassador were not to suffer great loss of prestige at the U.N.

Wednesday night the White House released a letter from Kennedy to Stevenson in which the President said he deeply regretted the "unfortunate stir" caused by the statements in the Bartlett-Alsop piece.

He added: "I think you know how greatly we have all admired your performance at the United Nations in general and during the Security Council discussions and private negotiations connected with the Cuba crisis in particular."

He assured Stevenson he wanted him to continue at the United Nations. But at no time has Kennedy criticized the story co-authored by his friend, Bartlett. Nor has he said the story—contrary to what Stevenson says—was inaccurate in reporting the ambassador disagreed with the other council members on the blockade as a first step in dealing with the Soviet Union.

The magazine not only listed all the council members who took part in the discussion but directly or indirectly quoted Kennedy and some of the council members on what they said and what they thought needed to be done.

After Victory In Cuba

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

There is little doubt that the blockade of Cuba and the apparent withdrawal by the Soviet Union of its missiles from the island represent a tremendous victory for the United States.

Now that the quarantine has been lifted, Latin Americans are wondering what long-range effect this triumph will have on them.

Most governments of the area believe the effect will be good. They feel that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's refusal to risk a war over Cuba will dampen the ardor of nationalistically-inclined Leftists — of whom there are considerably more in Latin America.

The reasoning is that if the Soviets wouldn't support Cuba, they were not likely to support any other socialist outpost in the Western Hemisphere in time of crisis.

Some observers go so far as to predict that the weakening of Fidel Castro's position at home and abroad soon will provoke a crisis within Cuba and that the United States does not intend to rest until he is overthrown.

In some countries plagued by Communist subversion, the blockade and the attempts by extremists to retaliate with acts of terrorism — merely suspected in some cases, real in others — provided an excuse for the kind of crackdown the governments considered necessary but feared to carry out.

The Dominican Republic, for example, was expecting a major Communist offensive even before the blockade.

THE REDS are pledged to prevent presidential elections scheduled for Dec. 20 and the ruling council of state wasn't certain what to do about it.

Came the quarantine and word of an international plot to spread terror throughout Latin America and Dominican authorities swooped down on the Communists —seizing arms and arresting and deporting men like Maximo Lopez Molina, head of an underground party.

The blockade also served to place Mexico, long a cold war fence-sitter and, in the eyes of many, Cuba's best friend in Latin America, in the American camp. But it's by no means certain that it will stay there.

Mexico's policy vis-a-vis the United States and Cuba has been difficult to define. Economic aid from the U.S. government and from the American people are vital to this country. Yet, it carried the banner of non-intervention into the Organization of American States time and again to block U.S. proposed action against Castro.

Nevertheless, when the quarantine went into effect, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos — after what must have been an agonizing few hours of decision-making — gave it his country' full support.

No only did Mexico vote in favor of the blockade, but it has patrolled its Yucatan coast to prevent smuggling and cut down on its trade with the island.

The Mexican explanation is that as long as Cuba did not openly represent a threat to the other hemisphere nations, there was no reason for intervening in its affairs. When it became apparent that it possessed offensive rather than just defensive weapons, the situation changed.

THIS IS TRUE, but it also is true that President Kennedy's sudden imposition of the blockade placed Mexico in a position where it had to support or oppose him outright. It would have been difficult indeed to do the latter.

The same internal problems that had kept Mr. Lopez Mateos on the fence before could drive him back to it again. He is trying to hold together a one-party system — managed, naturally, by his own party — in the face of a threat by rightist and leftist elements to break off from the ruling organization.

Despite the general impression that the quarantine was an unqualified success, some countries, especially those of Central America are worried.

They have been unhappy about Mr. Kennedy's pledge not to invade Cuba, if inspection is arranged, fearing that it gave Castro a free hand in continuing his attempts to export his revolution.

U Thant, United Nations secretary-general, has laid it on the line for the General Assembly. Either it must collect assessments due for special activities in the Congo and the Near East, or the United Nations will be bankrupt.

The catch in collecting the assessments has been Russia's refusal to pay, on purely technical grounds that have been cut away legally by the World Court of International Justice. Other countries also are delinquent, but if Russia set the right example they would be forced to follow along.

As it is, some of the other countries are in mood to spend money they can save by taking advantage of Russia's precedent. They think there is bargaining power in being in arrears; that other countries will be reluctant to push them too far lest they drop out of the United Nations entirely.

Why not test them out by serving notice they will be dropped from membership automatically if their checks are not in the mail by Jan. 1? Anybody want to bet they wouldn't break their backs to get them there in time?

Will We Shoot Santa Claus?

Is Santa Claus on the way out?

The jolly little elf who, down through the centuries, has brought so much happiness and sheer delight to children (and adults) at Christmastide must inevitably be hurt by the sophistication of our age.

Mimicked by gaunt red-suited human scarecrows on street corners, in department stores and at organization parties; heard over the radio for weeks before Christmas, in many different voices; lampooned in sophisticated TV comedy routines; landed in this town and that town by helicopter, conventional aircraft, reindeer and even fire engines, can the classical concept of Santa long survive?

Comes now the latest threat to belief in St. Nick. Three young believers heard on the radio that Santa had been arrested in Cincinnati for working on Sunday.

Deeply concerned about the jailed elf's ability to deliver presents when behind bars, and equally worried about what would happen when Christmas comes on Sunday, they wrote a letter to Ohio's governor.

The governor replied they need not worry, that no law made by man can destroy the spirit of Christmas.

But the lawful behavior and activities of men which distort, ridicule and deglamorize Santa Claus can disenchant young believers and may lead to the elf's demise.

Letter From Max

By Truman Twill

Dear Truman Twill:

Here is a gimmick with great possibilities for families overstocked with cookies, candy, window cleaner, Christmas cards and other items to sell to raise money for the various clubs that members of the family belong to.

This merchandise has a way of piling up until Mom and Pop shell out the coin to buy all the stuff and keep the club solvent. Our household, for example, has enough window cleaner to make a 10-story apartment house sparkle for a decade.

Our gimmick, still in its infancy and operating on a trial basis, is to unload as much as possible on door-to-door sales people who make regular stops at the house — a brush man, a household supply chap, a lady with a line of female garments and a lady with gook of all kinds for milady's toilet. Turnabout is fair play.

Thoughts about football: the efficiency with which officials on the field pass the football to each other to get it back where it belongs for the next play is a wonder to watch. One reason we never played in a marching band is because we would be overcome with curiosity wondering how we looked in those fascinating formations the bands perform on the field at halftime; the other reason is because we never played a musical instrument. Whatever happened to the custom of playing high school games on Saturday afternoons, always the biggest event of the week to us oldtimers?

Encroachment of hunters in built-up areas has gone so far that the shot from their guns sometimes rattles against the windows and walls of occupied houses. This has been mentioned several times in irate letters to the editor and it happened to the house of a couple of friends of ours. Such carelessness to life and limb by hunters is the quickest way to turn a cold war into a shooting war.

We are only statistics in the federal census but a new wrinkle in the submergence of individuals in technology is the news that the Ohio State Library in Columbus is relegating our ancestors to holes in punch-cards to provide speedier information for persons seeking information about their Ohio forebears. A person could hardly be anything less than a hole, could he?

It came as a jolt to read that four 19th century white marble fireplace mantels had disappeared from the White House years ago. If such things happen in the White House we small householders have cause to quake. A closer reading of the story disclosed that the mantels vanished during one of the periodic renovating jobs performed by the White House and skulduggery was not necessarily involved. This only partly reassured us.

The Russian admission that the idyllic life on the Russian collective farms was being disrupted by young nogoodniks shipped from the cities to the farms for "re-education" gave us a lift and indicated again that a real utopia is still beyond reach.

Home movies have been the butt of many jokes but we know a fellow who as an amateur has taken movies of the flora and fauna of such places as the Rocky Mountains, Alaska, western Canada and the Everglades in Florida and we have enjoyed seeing the whole series in his home. So go ahead and laugh if you want to.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

It Sounds Like An Old Line

By Victor Riesel

When I was in London not so long ago, Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, visited Congress House, the national labor headquarters. On his way upstairs, the royal consort noticed in the center of the lobby — I was told later — a black metal contraption. It was an abstract exhibit left over from the previous week's art exhibition, which had been part of the Festival of Labor. Grinning, he walked over to George Lowthian, head of the building workers.

Victor Riesel

"Is that," queried the Prince, "a memorial to the unknown bricklayer?"

There was laughter. A friend of mine in the group of British labor leaders heard someone observe that it might as well be. "At the rate which machines are replacing manpower, we'll need a memorial to remind us of the handicraftsman."

MEMBERS OF the British Trades Union Congress 37-man General Council are Socialists, but some of them have been knighted by the Queen.

One evening Prince Philip had occasion to consult the General Council. Looking about him he sallied: "It is good to see so many working knights working nights."

Indeed they are. For they, like the American labor leaders, are much concerned with the changing of the old order, the innovation of fantastic automated machinery which is beginning to displace many workers.

So much is the older order changing in the land where weavers stoned and smashed the first textile machinery, that there is now concern lest Britain lose its identity and become just a cog in a vast automated world.

There even is serious talk of digging a tunnel under the English Channel if Britain joins the Common Market. Sir Leslie Ford, general manager of the Port of London, said some time ago that this would be a certainty.

"The 22-mile tunnel would have to be built to speed grade goods between the continent and England," said Sir Leslie.

OBVIOUSLY this is a brand new world with newer problems—and a group of men will meet soon in a transoceanic series of conferences to see what can be done to protect those who are displaced by these machines of the future.

Beginning on Dec. 10 there will be a five-day series of international conferences on how to live with The Machine and how it can be harnessed for the good of all. The conferences begin in London. Then they shift to the International Labor Office headquarters in Geneva.

Attending them will be prominent labor leaders, some industrialists and some eminent scholars from the United States, Britain and from virtually every nation in free Europe.

On the American side the conferences are sponsored by the Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc. This is cochaired by John Snyder, president and chairman of U. S. Industries, Inc., and Al J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists.

The foundation is financed by U. S. Industries, which pays "dues" into the organization. The corporation sells automatic machinery including robots and taxes itself for every piece of equipment sold to finance the foundation's continuous studies of the impact of such machines on the wage earners and salaried people of American communities.

There is a companion English group called the Foundation on Automation and Employment, Ltd.

THE CHAIRMAN of the English counterpart is William J. Carron, president of the powerful British Amalgamated Engineering Union. Lord Robens, chairman of the British National Coal Board, is vice chairman of the Foundation, headquartered in London.

The first of the conferences, on Dec. 10, will be a gathering of scholars from the United States and more than 12 Western European universities. Then will come a conference which will be attended by such labor leaders as New York's Harry Van Arsdale, who launched the 5-hour day.

What will be studied in this first and unique series of gatherings will affect every crossroad in our modern world:

What is the nature of the employer's obligation, if any, to bargain with his workers over the closing or shifting of plants?

How to handle the transfer of job benefits and seniority when plants are shifted? What about featherbedding and surplus workers?

WHAT CAN the government, labor and management do to meet the emergencies of indispensable automation?

Is the shorter work week an answer?

What is the impact of automation, which has begun to make computor decisions bordering on major policy making?

What is the impact on middle management of the new automation and computors which make policy decisions? What can or cannot be achieved by retraining displaced workers? What about early retirement, severance pay?

Should there be wage and price restraints? And what are the obligations of the makers of machines to the workers they displace?

I will be there as a delegate of one of our government committees. We will not find many answers yet. But we will make a start.

The "Machine" can neither be smashed nor go uncontrolled. Nor can it be considered an enemy.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

This last Monday night, the East Liverpool Jaycees' Board of Trustees and several additional members attended the meeting of the East Liverpool City Council.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Council for the unanimously warm reception they gave us. Their acceptance of our offer to help in promotion of a master plan proposal was indeed gratifying.

This action, and others in recent weeks, has made this City Council one which can be called the most progressive of latter years. The Jaycees congratulate them on progress toward vigorous city government.

Capital Chatterboxes

Security Council Leak Raises Questions

WASHINGTON

There's a chatterbox — or maybe a bunch of chatterboxes—in or close to President Kennedy's highly secret National Security Council.

The Washington Star suggests Kennedy use the FBI to find out who did the talking to the Saturday Evening Post about how the council advised the President on handling the Cuban crisis last October.

This would mean an investigation of those closest to the President. Meanwhile there's no assurance there won't be more blabbing after another secret meeting on another crisis.

The Post this week not only published an account of who said what at the October meeting and what measures were discussed but mentioned what was in an inter-office memorandum distributed in the super-secret Central Intelligence Agency.

Yet this week when Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, was asked to comment on the story he said: "Proceedings of the NSC have been secret since its founding in 1947 and will continue to be."

The magazine story was written by a close friend of the President, Charles Bartlett, Washington correspondent of the Chattanooga Times, and Stewart Alsop, who reportedly has close connections in the administration.

By itself their account of what was said at the meeting would cause surprise. But even that was subordinated to the storm raised by the part they said was played by Adlai Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations.

Their story said that even after a "consensus" of Kennedy's other advisers on the NSC said that a Cuban blockade should be the first step in a showdown with Russia, Stevenson "dissented" and even suggested making concessions to the Soviets by swapping Allied missile bases for Russia's Cuban missile bases.

This article was widely interpreted in Washington as a sign the Kennedy administration was putting the skids under Stevenson and wanted to bounce him.

What followed, as the storm got bigger, is curious in itself: Salinger read to reporters a White House statement saying "Stevenson strongly supported the decision taken by the President on the quarantine. . ." White House officials said the statement had been prepared with the knowledge and advice of the President.

The statement at first glance seemed to support what Stevenson by this time had already said: that he had favored a blockade. But on closer examination it looks ambiguous.

It didn't contradict the Post story by saying Stevenson agreed with the "consensus" of the council that there should be a blockade. Kennedy made his decision after hearing the council. The White House statement said only that Stevenson agreed with the President's decision.

Stevenson expanded Wednesday on the part he played in the council meeting.

On an NBC television show, Stevenson said the Bartlett-Alsop story was a "classic example of irresponsible journalism . . . untrue as to what I proposed and as to what I opposed."

He said he had "emphatically approved the blockade" and he denied advocating a swap of missile bases with Russia. Here in Washington there was a broad feeling Kennedy would have to give Stevenson personal and direct support if the ambassador were not to suffer great loss of prestige at the U.N.

Wednesday night the White House released a letter from Kennedy to Stevenson in which the President said he deeply regretted the "unfortunate stir" caused by the statements in the Bartlett-Alsop piece.

He added: "I think you know how greatly we have all admired your performance at the United Nations in general and during the Security Council discussions and private negotiations connected with the Cuba crisis in particular."

He assured Stevenson he wanted him to continue at the United Nations. But at no time has Kennedy criticized the story co-authored by his friend, Bartlett. Nor has he said the story—contrary to what Stevenson says—was inaccurate in reporting the ambassador disagreed with the other council members on the blockade as a first step in dealing with the Soviet Union.

The magazine not only listed all the council members who took part in the discussion but directly or indirectly quoted Kennedy and some of the council members on what they said and what they thought needed to be done.

After Victory In Cuba

By Bert Quint

MEXICO CITY

There is little doubt that the blockade of Cuba and the apparent withdrawal by the Soviet Union of its missiles from the island represent a tremendous victory for the United States.

Now that the quarantine has been lifted, Latin Americans are wondering what long-range effect this triumph will have on them.

Most governments of the area believe the effect will be good. They feel that Soviet Premier Khrushchev's refusal to risk a war over Cuba will dampen the ardor of nationalistically-inclined Leftists — of whom there are considerably more in Latin America.

The reasoning is that if the Soviets wouldn't support Cuba, they were not likely to support any other socialist outpost in the Western Hemisphere in time of crisis.

Some observers go so far as to predict that the weakening of Fidel Castro's position at home and abroad soon will provoke a crisis within Cuba and that the United States does not intend to rest until he is overthrown.

In some countries plagued by Communist subversion, the blockade and the attempts by extremists to retaliate with acts of terrorism — merely suspected in some cases, real in others — provided an excuse for the kind of crackdown the governments considered necessary but feared to carry out.

The Dominican Republic, for example, was expecting a major Communist offensive even before the blockade.

THE REDS are pledged to prevent presidential elections scheduled for Dec. 20 and the ruling council of state wasn't certain what to do about it.

Came the quarantine and word of an international plot to spread terror throughout Latin America and Dominican authorities swooped down on the Communists —seizing arms and arresting and deporting men like Maximo Lopez Molina, head of an underground party.

The blockade also served to place Mexico, long a cold war fence-sitter and, in the eyes of many, Cuba's best friend in Latin America, in the American camp. But it's by no means certain that it will stay there.

Mexico's policy vis-a-vis the United States and Cuba has been difficult to define. Economic aid from the U.S. government and from the American people are vital to this country. Yet, it carried the banner of non-intervention into the Organization of American States time and again to block U.S. proposed action against Castro.

Nevertheless, when the quarantine went into effect, President Adolfo Lopez Mateos — after what must have been an agonizing few hours of decision-making — gave it his country' full support.

No only did Mexico vote in favor of the blockade, but it has patrolled its Yucatan coast to prevent smuggling and cut down on its trade with the island.

The Mexican explanation is that as long as Cuba did not openly represent a threat to the other hemisphere nations, there was no reason for intervening in its affairs. When it became apparent that it possessed offensive rather than just defensive weapons, the situation changed.

THIS IS TRUE, but it also is true that President Kennedy's sudden imposition of the blockade placed Mexico in a position where it had to support or oppose him outright. It would have been difficult indeed to do the latter.

The same internal problems that had kept Mr. Lopez Mateos on the fence before could drive him back to it again. He is trying to hold together a one-party system — managed, naturally, by his own party — in the face of a threat by rightist and leftist elements to break off from the ruling organization.

Despite the general impression that the quarantine was an unqualified success, some countries, especially those of Central America are worried.

They have been unhappy about Mr. Kennedy's pledge not to invade Cuba, if inspection is arranged, fearing that it gave Castro a free hand in continuing his attempts to export his revolution.

Car Crashes On New Road

A 30-year-old Illinois man escaped unhurt at 3:30 this morning when his auto skidded and struck guardrails and markers at the right-angle turn at the intersection of Dresden Ave. and the new freeway, police reported.

Gregory Golden, 30, of Oak Park told officers his 1961 model station wagon skidded on snow as he attempted to turn off the freeway onto Dresden. Northbound about 20 miles an hour, the auto hit guardrails and barrels marking the turn, he said.

The left front fender and left side of the car were scraped, police said. The car was rented from Merit Car Rentals of Schooleys Mountain, N. J., officers said.

A parked auto was damaged in a mishap at the City Hospital parking lot at 7:40 last night, police said.

A parked 1956 two-door sedan owned by Charles Bolton of Simmons St. apparently drifted and struck a parked 1959 four-door sedan owned by Richard D. Johnson, 840 Spring Grove Ave., police said. There was damage to the left door of the Johnson auto, police said.

Minor damage resulted in a mishap Wednesday at 10 a. m. on Broadway, officers said. It involved a 1955 four-door sedan driven by Paul E. Boggess, 19, of 1841 Harvey Ave. and a parked 1958 two-door sedan owned by Gene Delposen, 706 Diamond St., Wellsville, officers said.

Boggess said he was backing into a parking space when his car bumped Delposen's. The mishap scraped both right doors and the right rear of the Boggess car and damaged the left rear bumper of Delposen's car, police said.

Man Fined Again In License Case

For the second time in less than a month, Jack Edward Kay of New Orleans was penalized in Municipal Court today on a charge of operating his auto with improper plates.

Kay drew a fine of $50 and costs this morning from Acting Judge Paul Tobin when he pleaded guilty to driving on an expired temporary tag. He was cited at 12:57 p.m. Tuesday on E. 4th St. by Patrolman William A. Devon.

Officer Devon told the court Kay purchased the auto in Michigan July 31 and never has obtained a license. Kay was cited Nov. 13 for failure to apply for registration for the car, the officer said. The next day he obtained a temporary tag which since has expired, the officer said.

Campaign Cost $609, James Boyd Reports

James W. Boyd of R. D. 2, a Republican named a county commissioner in the Nov. 6 general election, filed a sworn statement today with the County Election Board showing $609 in campaign expenditures.

Boyd listed one $5 contribution and no unpaid bills. He won the post by defeating Frank Wilson of Wellsville, the Democratic incumbent.

The Election Board reminded candidates that Dec. 21 at 4 p.m. is the deadline for the reports. They are required of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and of individuals or groups that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Council Gets Big Book With Data On Gas Rate

A huge volume the size of a popular novel was turned over to City Council at its special session Wednesday night, but it's far from "light" reading.

The volume contains all the data filed with the Public Utilities Commission in Columbus Nov. 30 by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. when it asked an 18 per cent raise in its East Liverpool rates.

The volume came through the mail in a big manila envelope, addressed to Council and President Charles N. Edwards. Without commenting on the company's request, councilmen instructed Clerk Lawrence Zollinger to place the data in the files.

of snow at Lisbon. His crews began spreading ashes at 8 last night and still were working on some roads this morning.

The office of James DeLuce, county superintendent for the state department, said his crews began cleaning roads at 7 last night.

Road conditions throughout the county remained hazardous late this morning, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon, which was investigating two mishaps — one near Salineville and another near Columbiana.

Officers said snow and ice made driving conditions dangerous on many roads which were still slippery as the snow tapered off.

Some Southerr Local School District buses failed to arrive at schools this morning because of snow on secondary roads, and attendance at Salineville schools was down 15 per cent, officials reported.

Two Wayne area buses became stuck and were unable to deliver pupils to the high school, and two No. 16 area buses also were delayed.

A few buses were delayed in Beaver Local District, but schools were operating with normal attendance by 9:30, it was reported.

The heavy snow was blamed for interrupting some electrical and telephone service in Hancock County and some telephone service in the Salineville area.

Lines near Pughtown and in other rural Hancock areas reportedly were knocked down by the wet snow. Repairs are expected to be completed sometime this afternoon.

A bus en route to Pughtown School still hadn't arrived as of 10:30 a. m.

The driver halted because of a fallen line, first believed to be a power circuit. After it was removed, the bus continued on its route but apparently got stuck on a back road.

The Ohio Power Co. said it had no reports of fallen lines in the East Liverpool area.

Donald Honicky, commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said service was interrupted to some 30 customers over a scattered area.

The only major line affected, he said, was the trunk between East Liverpool and Salineville and it involved chiefly toll calls. Local service in Salineville was not affected greatly, he said.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol said the main highways in the Steubenville area were wet, partly snow covered and slippery in spots. The secondary roads all are snow covered, officers said. The Jefferson County Highway Department crews were called out Wednesday night about 9 and worked all night spreading ashes on the hills and curves.

Only flurries had been forecast but the snowstorm buried Indian Summer, which has lasted more than a week. And temperatures are to tumble with the first onslaught of winter. The forecast is for a possible low of 25 tonight after a high today of only 32 to 38. The downtown had 32 at 6 a. m. Friday will be colder with snow flurries.

The wintry weather, with strong winds, spread across wide areas from the Rockies into the Ohio Valley and the cold air and snow extended southward into Tennessee and northern Georgia.

Northeastern Ohio got most of the state's snow with 6 inches in Akron, 3 at Youngstown, 3½ to 4 in the Cleveland area, 3½ to 5 in the Portage Lakes area and 2 to 3 inches in Geauga County.

There was about 5 inches along the Ohio Turnpike from Strongsville eastward to the Streetsboro Interchange.

Cold northwesterly winds carried snow from the Upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes to the mountains of North Carolina and the Virginia highlands. Snow flurries peppered Atlanta, where the mercury dropped to 30 degrees.

The coldest weather was from Minnesota and North Dakota southward into eastern Nebraska and western Iowa, with temperatures mostly in the teens. A low of 9 above was reported in Devils Lake, N.D.

Ohio Power, 'Co-Ops' Eye Big Venture

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Power Co. of Canton and its parent, American Electric Power Co. of New York, saying rural electric co-ops "are here to stay and we'd rather work with them than against them," are studying a major venture with Ohio's cooperatives.

Ohio Power and Buckeye Power Inc. of Columbus have announced they are discussing a $135 million, 1.23-million - kilowatt power plant which would be located in Eastern or Southeastern Ohio where coal is plentiful. The two-unit plant would be Ohio's largest.

Buckeye Power represents the state's rural electric cooperatives.

The private utility proposed the study. The proposal would divide stock ownership of the giant facility equally between Ohio Power and Buckeye Power.

Ohio Power serves 485,000 customers in 53 Ohio counties. It runs six plants which would be interconnected with the new one. The co-ops now buy their power from seven investor-owned utilities.

Several months of negotiations lie ahead, according to H. A. Patterson, an American Electric vice president. If the plan is approved, it would take two or three years to build the generating station, he added.

Agreement would be a milestone in better relations between the long-feuding private power companies and the co-ops formed in the 1930s under the Rural Electrification Administration.

Hooded Robbers Grab $16,000 At Bank In Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Investigators say two shabbily dressed men who robbed the Second National Bank of Warren of an estimated $16,000 apparently shed their apparel during their getaway.

The hooded robbers, both wielding revolvers, entered the bank's branch on U.S. 422, the Youngstown Road, by a rear door Wednesday and ordered five tellers to empty their cash drawers and went out the way they came in.

One was described as wearing a dirty gray trench coat, the other a brightly-colored hunting coat. Both wore gloves.

A stolen car believed used in the getaway was found a few blocks from the bank in a residential section. FBI agents said several articles of clothing found near the car matched descriptions given by witnesses to the holdup.

Legislature Aid To Be Urged For 2 New 2-Year Colleges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Community College Board says it will recommend that the 1963 legislature appropriate nearly $1.7 million to help two-year institutions in Lorain and Cuyahoga counties get started.

Ralph M. Besse, president of Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. and chairman of the Community College Board, said the decision was reached after the board was told:

Trustees hope to have a community college in operation at a centralized site in Lorain County by fall 1964, but believe they need $475,000 in state aid for the 1964-65 school year.

The community college granted a charter by the board Wednesday—Cuyahoga Community College—apparently will need $490,-99: in its first year (1963-64) and $733,491 for 1964-65, planners say.

Besse said the board also will recommend two changes in state laws regarding community colleges. One would permit them to have full technical institute training programs. The other would remove the requirement that no more can be appropriated per fulltime community college student than per state university branch student. Officials say community college costs often are higher.

Campaign To Continue

Fund Drive At Half-Way Mark For Mental Clinic

A drive for $20,000 to establish a mental clinic at Lisbon has passed the half-way mark and campaign leaders today indicated that a continued effort through the remainder of December will achieve the goal.

Judge Louis Tobin, chairman of the county drive, said plans are already being made to form a charter required for the clinic operation.

Judge Tobin said the collections so far total $11,243.

He said Atty. Bryce Kendall of Salem, urban chairman, and Jack Pozenel of West Point, rural chairman, believe the goal will be reached.

In East Liverpool, the city chapter of the National Secretaries Association has launched a follow-up campaign among businesses and industries.

H. James Allison, head of the city business drive, said the women's group is expected to file a report next week.

About $2,500 has been collected in the city for which the goal is $8,000. Anyone desiring to make contributions may mail them to Miss Louella Thompson of the First National Bank.

The county funds will be matched by state funds to provide some $60,000 needed to obtain a full-time psychiatrist, psychologist and a trained staff.

Petrillo's Reign Ends As Musician Union President

CHICAGO (AP)—A dance band leader who has never held union office took over today as president of Chicago's musicians, ending James C. Petrillo's stormy 40-year reign as a labor boss.

Bernard (Barney) Richards, 57, led a rebel ticket which defeated Petrillo and most of his aides Wednesday in an election they had expected to win. Petrillo lost by 95 votes.

Petrillo, 70, apparently played his own swan song by taking the challenge too lightly. He had had no competition for the office of president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians since 1933.

Union officials announced vote totals of 1,690 for Richards and 1,595 for Petrillo. About one-third of the union's reported eligible members voted. Two candidates for minor posts said they will enter official protests and ask for a recount.

Petrillo was not available for comment.

'Green Belt' Around Dayton Is Man's Hope

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—"A link in a green belt which someday will go all the way around Dayton" is the hope expressed by James M. Cox Jr. for a 130-acre farm he is converting into an arboretum.

Cox, president of Dayton Newspapetrs, Inc., reports plans are under way to make his farm south of the city a charitable, nonprofit showplace for trees, shrubs, vines and other plants. It is part of an effort here to save open space, and Cox hopes it will contribute to the community educationally and culturally.

The site is six miles south of here along Ohio 741. Two houses and two barns on the property will be retained for headquarters use.

Eventually, the place, to be called the James M. Cox Jr. Arboretum, is expected to have as many as 2,000 species on display.

Midland

On a motion by Councilman Joseph D'Alesio, Council decided to borrow money from the Midland branch of the Beaver Trust Co. and transfer it to a checking account at the First National Bank for the balance of the year.

At Council's last meeting, it passed a resolution to borrow up to $75,000, to be used as needed, until taxes begin to come in about April. Last year in January, Crucible agreed to pay $75,000 in advanced taxes to help the borough during the period when the borough's funds were low.

During discussion last night, it was suggested that Crucible be contacted again or Council should investigate the possibility of obtaining a government loan. Either way would be a savings on interest.

Council reappointed Rudolph Presutti, to a second five-year term on the Municipal Authority. His present term expires at the end of the year. He was reappointed on motion of Councilman Lester Trainer.

William Vinovich, president, presided. Council's other two members, William Shovlin and Joseph Hibbard, also attended.

Council's regular meeting will be next Thursday at 8 p. m. in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

January Will Be Major Milestone For New Senator

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — January will become a major milestone for George McGovern when he is sworn in as South Dakota's first Democratic U.S. senator in 26 years.

It caps a campaign he started in 1953 when Democratic affairs in the state, traditionally Republican, were at perhaps their lowest ebb.

The Democrats then could muster but two votes in the 110-member legislature.

Campaign To Continue

Fund Drive At Half-Way Mark For Mental Clinic

A drive for $20,000 to establish a mental clinic at Lisbon has passed the half-way mark and campaign leaders today indicated that a continued effort through the remainder of December will achieve the goal.

Judge Louis Tobin, chairman of the county drive, said plans are already being made to form a charter required for the clinic operation.

Judge Tobin said the collections so far total $11,243.

He said Atty. Bryce Kendall of Salem, urban chairman, and Jack Pozenel of West Point, rural chairman, believe the goal will be reached.

In East Liverpool, the city chapter of the National Secretaries Association has launched a follow-up campaign among businesses and industries.

H. James Allison, head of the city business drive, said the women's group is expected to file a report next week.

About $2,500 has been collected in the city for which the goal is $8,000. Anyone desiring to make contributions may mail them to Miss Louella Thompson of the First National Bank.

The county funds will be matched by state funds to provide some $60,000 needed to obtain a full-time psychiatrist, psychologist and a trained staff.

Membership Report Shows County Scouting Leads Area

A membership report, showing that Columbiana Boy Scout Council is leading in Region 4, was heard at a meeting of the Cherokee District commissioner staff Wednesday night at the home of Robert Gray of Chester, district executive.

Region 4 includes Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. The council has been first in membership and advancement for two months.

The district membership stands at 1,478 and Gray said it still is growing.

Fourteen attended. Fred Yonz, assistant commissioner, presided in the absence of Eugene Seeley, district commission. Ed Nelson, Wayne Wilson, Nick Shultz and Al Ferguson were guests.

Reports were heard from the commissioners on their units. Bill Jones said the monthly roundtable will be next Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA. Boy Scout Troop 28 of Wellsville, with Bill Travers as scoutmaster, will be in charge of the opening and closing ceremonies.

Uniforms are needed by members of some packs, troops and posts. Anyone with such items may contact Gray.

Nelson was accepted as a neighborhood commissioner for newly-organized pack and Troop 75 of the Boyce Methodist Church.

Glen Morris has been named cubmaster of Pack 11 of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church. A reorganization is planned.

The commissioners were informed 238 cubs, scouts, explorers and leaders participated in the East Liverpool Christmas parade.

Thirteen units are to be re-registered in January. Gray gave a detailed description of a roll call and inspection procedure used in the Columbiana Council.

Thirteen units do not have a regularly assigned commissioner. Anyone interested in serving may contact Seeley, Yonz or Gray.

Refreshments were served by Gray.

Petrillo's Reign Ends As Musician Union President

CHICAGO (AP)—A dance band leader who has never held union office took over today as president of Chicago's musicians, ending James C. Petrillo's stormy 40-year reign as a labor boss.

Bernard (Barney) Richards, 57, led a rebel ticket which defeated Petrillo and most of his aides Wednesday in an election they had expected to win. Petrillo lost by 95 votes.

Petrillo, 70, apparently played his own swan song by taking the challenge too lightly. He had had no competition for the office of president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians since 1933.

Union officials announced vote totals of 1,690 for Richards and 1,595 for Petrillo. About one-third of the union's reported eligible members voted. Two candidates for minor posts said they will enter official protests and ask for a recount.

Petrillo was not available for comment.

'Green Belt' Around Dayton Is Man's Hope

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—"A link in a green belt which someday will go all the way around Dayton" is the hope expressed by James M. Cox Jr. for a 130-acre farm he is converting into an arboretum.

Cox, president of Dayton Newspapetrs, Inc., reports plans are under way to make his farm south of the city a charitable, nonprofit showplace for trees, shrubs, vines and other plants. It is part of an effort here to save open space, and Cox hopes it will contribute to the community educationally and culturally.

The site is six miles south of here along Ohio 741. Two houses and two barns on the property will be retained for headquarters use.

Eventually, the place, to be called the James M. Cox Jr. Arboretum, is expected to have as many as 2,000 species on display.

Midland

On a motion by Councilman Joseph D'Alesio, Council decided to borrow money from the Midland branch of the Beaver Trust Co. and transfer it to a checking account at the First National Bank for the balance of the year.

At Council's last meeting, it passed a resolution to borrow up to $75,000, to be used as needed, until taxes begin to come in about April. Last year in January, Crucible agreed to pay $75,000 in advanced taxes to help the borough during the period when the borough's funds were low.

During discussion last night, it was suggested that Crucible be contacted again or Council should investigate the possibility of obtaining a government loan. Either way would be a savings on interest.

Council reappointed Rudolph Presutti, to a second five-year term on the Municipal Authority. His present term expires at the end of the year. He was reappointed on motion of Councilman Lester Trainer.

William Vinovich, president, presided. Council's other two members, William Shovlin and Joseph Hibbard, also attended.

Council's regular meeting will be next Thursday at 8 p. m. in Council Chambers in the Borough Building.

January Will Be Major Milestone For New Senator

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — January will become a major milestone for George McGovern when he is sworn in as South Dakota's first Democratic U.S. senator in 26 years.

It caps a campaign he started in 1953 when Democratic affairs in the state, traditionally Republican, were at perhaps their lowest ebb.

The Democrats then could muster but two votes in the 110-member legislature.

McGovern asked that something be done about the situation. Ward Clark, Democratic state chairman, named McGovern executive secretary.

McGovern's ascendency to the Senate was confirmed Wednesday when Republican Sen. Joe Bottum conceded the Democratic victory after a month-long recount.

McGovern held a 504-vote margin as he moved up to give the Democrats a 67-33 Senate majority starting next month.

The senator-elect became a Democrat in 1945 because he said he felt that party was "more on the side of the average American."

McGovern was tapped by President Kennedy to become Food for Peace director, a berth he held until embarking upon this year's campaign.

Tired UN Delegate Finds Dizzy Whirl At Day's End

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —"It's grim enough dealing with Cuba or the Congo all day," said the diplomat, staring glumly at the milling throng of drinkers. "To fight your way through this every night is a bit too much."

With 110 member nations determined to wine and dine each other before the General Assembly session ends soon, the average delegate usually winds up his day being jostled about a smoke-filled room.

The envoy first must stand in line up to half an hour to pay his respects to the host ambassador. Then he is free to battle his way through the packed room in search of a cocktail tray.

If the drink gives him courage to try the buffet, the guest attaches himself to another long line inching past the food tables. After receiving a plate of spiced beef or one of the volcanic curries that most U.N. parties feature, he has the final problem of finding a place to sit.

After a three-week round of U.N. receptions and banquets during his 1960 visit to the assembly, Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a newsman: "This life would make a stone sick."

Ten years ago the United Nations had fewer than 60 members. A delegate averaged a couple of small parties a week during the session. Now he often attends two or three affairs in one evening.

By the time the assembly is over he has gone to more than 80 such functions and consumed enough spiced food and strong drink to turn the ordinary stomach to suede.

He faithfully makes the rounds because diplomatic etiquette requires it, and he hopes to pick up useful information chatting with fellow delegates.

The late Dag Hammarskjold avoided social functions, but he once described the U.N. reception as a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. His successor, U Thant, goes to parties when time permits and engages in informal exchanges he could never fit into his busy work schedule.

With the rapid growth of the United Nations, receptions have become so jammed that it is difficult for a jostled delegate to indulge in any quiet lobbying.

The growth of the world forum has posed an acute problem for the U.N. catering staff which handles parties at the East River

"We can't accommodate more than 750 persons in the main dining room at one time," said Frank W. Reickert, who runs the network of bars and restaurants.

The Soviet Union goes all-out each fall with its October revolution party. The Kremlin keeps a tight grip on the purse strings. After the first half-hour caviar, champagne and vodka are replaced by highballs and sandwiches.

Farm Projects For Recreation Eligible For Aid

Hancock County farmers may obtain cost - share asssitance and government loans for establishing recreational enterprises on their farms, Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, said.

Financial assistance was provided in the 1962 Food and Agriculture Act, he said.

To be eligible, part of the farm must have been devoted to the production of grain or hay, and the owner must have held title to the land for at least two years.

The Farm and Home Administration is permitted to make farm loans for recreational enterprises such as camping grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables, vacation cottages, lodges, lakes and ponds for boating and fishing, docks, nature trails, picnic grounds and hunting preserves, Johnson said.

The interest rate is 5 per cent per year on the unpaid principle, Johnson added.

The Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office in New Cumberland can provide cost - sharing for pond construction and conservation practices for wildlife such as food strips and trees and shurbs for cover and food.

Johnson said the William Bailey farm that is now the Pleasant View Golf Course and the J. H. Pearcy Farm commercial fishing pond are good examples of land being converted to public recreation uses.

2 New Projects As Civil Works Jobs Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Maumee River basis project at Findlay, Ohio, and one on the Ohio River between Ohio and West Virginia are among seven civil works jobs newly recommended by the Army's Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Estimated federal construction cost for the Findlay project is $9,317,000. The Ohio River project, at Willow Island Locks and Dam, would cost an estimated $66,350,000.

The undertaking at Findlay, where the Blanchard River flows as part of the Maumee watershed, calls for improvements for flood control including levies, flood walls, channel improvements, stream diversions, interior drainage works with pump stations, highway and railroad bridge changes, construction of new bridges and other works.

The Willow Island project entails replacing locks and dams 15, 16 and 17, and building an overflow dam and two locks, both 110 feet wide, one 112 feet long and the other 600 feet long.

According to recent studies, today's college students are racking up grades of from three to 10 points higher than did their parents.

Doctor To Face Charges In Two Patients' Deaths

CLEVELAND (AP) — Man slaughter charges against a 75-year-old doctor, two of whose patients died on the operating table within a period of one month, were to be presented today to the Cuyahoga County grand jury.

Dr. Arthur W. Laird is being held in suburban Cleveland Heights Jail on a first - degree manslaughter charge in the death Monday of Mrs. Joan Dileno, 25.

Louis Orkin, Cleveland Heights prosecutor, said the grand jury will be presented evidence also on the Nov. 15 death of Mrs. Virginia Stewart, 49.

The coroner's office said Mrs. Dileno was killed by an overdose of xylocaine, a local anesthetic, while undergoing a plastic surgery operation.

The coroner had ruled previously that Mrs. Stewart died because she was allergic to xylocaine.

Dr. Lair, who pleaded innocent to the charge in Municipal Court, is being held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Receptions, Parties, Etc.

Tired UN Delegate Finds Dizzy Whirl At Day's End

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —"It's grim enough dealing with Cuba or the Congo all day," said the diplomat, staring glumly at the milling throng of drinkers. "To fight your way through this every night is a bit too much."

With 110 member nations determined to wine and dine each other before the General Assembly session ends soon, the average delegate usually winds up his day being jostled about a smoke-filled room.

The envoy first must stand in line up to half an hour to pay his respects to the host ambassador. Then he is free to battle his way through the packed room in search of a cocktail tray.

If the drink gives him courage to try the buffet, the guest attaches himself to another long line inching past the food tables. After receiving a plate of spiced beef or one of the volcanic curries that most U.N. parties feature, he has the final problem of finding a place to sit.

After a three-week round of U.N. receptions and banquets during his 1960 visit to the assembly, Soviet Premier Khrushchev told a newsman: "This life would make a stone sick."

Ten years ago the United Nations had fewer than 60 members. A delegate averaged a couple of small parties a week during the session. Now he often attends two or three affairs in one evening.

By the time the assembly is over he has gone to more than 80 such functions and consumed enough spiced food and strong drink to turn the ordinary stomach to suede.

He faithfully makes the rounds because diplomatic etiquette requires it, and he hopes to pick up useful information chatting with fellow delegates.

The late Dag Hammarskjold avoided social functions, but he once described the U.N. reception as a fruitful field for quiet diplomacy. His successor, U Thant, goes to parties when time permits and engages in informal exchanges he could never fit into his busy work schedule.

With the rapid growth of the United Nations, receptions have become so jammed that it is difficult for a jostled delegate to indulge in any quiet lobbying.

The growth of the world forum has posed an acute problem for the U.N. catering staff which handles parties at the East River

"We can't accommodate more than 750 persons in the main dining room at one time," said Frank W. Reickert, who runs the network of bars and restaurants.

The Soviet Union goes all-out each fall with its October revolution party. The Kremlin keeps a tight grip on the purse strings. After the first half-hour caviar, champagne and vodka are replaced by highballs and sandwiches.

Farm Projects For Recreation Eligible For Aid

Hancock County farmers may obtain cost - share asssitance and government loans for establishing recreational enterprises on their farms, Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, said.

Financial assistance was provided in the 1962 Food and Agriculture Act, he said.

To be eligible, part of the farm must have been devoted to the production of grain or hay, and the owner must have held title to the land for at least two years.

The Farm and Home Administration is permitted to make farm loans for recreational enterprises such as camping grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables, vacation cottages, lodges, lakes and ponds for boating and fishing, docks, nature trails, picnic grounds and hunting preserves, Johnson said.

The interest rate is 5 per cent per year on the unpaid principle, Johnson added.

The Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation office in New Cumberland can provide cost - sharing for pond construction and conservation practices for wildlife such as food strips and trees and shurbs for cover and food.

Johnson said the William Bailey farm that is now the Pleasant View Golf Course and the J. H. Pearcy Farm commercial fishing pond are good examples of land being converted to public recreation uses.

2 New Projects As Civil Works Jobs Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Maumee River basis project at Findlay, Ohio, and one on the Ohio River between Ohio and West Virginia are among seven civil works jobs newly recommended by the Army's Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

Estimated federal construction cost for the Findlay project is $9,317,000. The Ohio River project, at Willow Island Locks and Dam, would cost an estimated $66,350,000.

The undertaking at Findlay, where the Blanchard River flows as part of the Maumee watershed, calls for improvements for flood control including levies, flood walls, channel improvements, stream diversions, interior drainage works with pump stations, highway and railroad bridge changes, construction of new bridges and other works.

The Willow Island project entails replacing locks and dams 15, 16 anc 17, and building an overflow dam and two locks, both 110 feet wide, one 112 feet long and the other 600 feet long.

According to recent studies, today's college students are racking up grades of from three to 10 points higher than did their parents.

Doctor To Face Charges In Two Patients' Deaths

CLEVELAND (AP) — Man slaughter charges against a 75-year-old doctor, two of whose patients died on the operating table within a period of one month, were to be presented today to the Cuyahoga County grand jury.

Dr. Arthur W. Laird is being held in suburban Cleveland Heights Jail on a first - degree manslaughter charge in the death Monday of Mrs. Joan Dileno, 25.

Louis Orkin, Cleveland Heights prosecutor, said the grand jury will be presented evidence also on the Nov. 15 death of Mrs. Virginia Stewart, 49.

The coroner's office said Mrs. Dileno was killed by an overdose of xylocaine, a local anesthetic, while undergoing a plastic surgery operation.

The coroner had ruled previously that Mrs. Stewart died because she was allergic to xylocaine.

Dr. Lair, who pleaded innocent to the charge in Municipal Court, is being held in lieu of $25,000 bond.

New Legal Basis Seen To Nip Desegregation

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—An attorney claims that a federal judge's decision in the Tulane University desegregation case could provide a new legal basis to thwart desegregation of public institutions.

U.S. Dist Judge Frank B. Ellis Jr. of New Orleans ruled Wednesday that Tulane, as a private institution, cannot be forced to admit Negroes.

Ellis—President Kennedy's civil defense director before being named to the federal bench—said there was not sufficient state involvement in the operation of Tulane to bring it within the scope of the 14th Amendment, the equal rights provision of the U.S. Constitution.

John P. Nelson, attorney for the two Negro women who sought to enter Tulane, said the decision "opens the door to new and more subtle forms of racial discrimination in higher education."

Nelson, in oral arguments and briefs, contended that a state university was transferred to the Tulane Educational Fund and that no new university was created. Tulane attorneys argued that the state institution called the University of Louisiana ceased to exist in 1884 and that a new private university, namely Tulane, came into existence.

Ellis cleared the way for Tulane to accept Negroes voluntarily, ruling that the state act under which the Tulane Educational Fund took over the University of Louisiana was unconstitutional to the extent that it compels discrimination.

Nelson said he will appeal the decision to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals here.

Tulane has said it would admit Negroes "if it were permissible to do so."

Mrs. Evelyn Hartman was given a vote of thanks for making the program booklet which was covered with red and white art paper and featured a wreath for decoration.

The group will assist the Columbiana County Mental Health Association with the fund drive for a mental clinic. The code of ethics was read for closing.

Prizes were awarded Mrs. Ruth Coleman, Mrs. Brenda Reed, Mrs. Frank and Miss Linda Martin. Santa Claus conducted the gift exchange.

Covers were arranged for 26 members and guests. Candles, decorated by Mrs. Coleman, Miss Graff, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. Hartman, Mrs. Wilma Bryan and Mrs. Ruth Pearson, formed table decorations. Mrs. Pearson gave the blessing.

An educational topic will be presented for the meeting Jan. 8 in the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Industrial Spending On New Plants Exceeds Predictions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Industrial spending for new plants and equipment ran well ahead of the amount predicted for the third quarter of 1962 and probably will push the year's total to a record high, two government agencies report.

But spending estimates indicate a leveling off of capital outlays in this quarter and perhaps a slight decline in the first part of 1963.

The joint announcement Wednesday by the Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission said the survey showed industrial spending reached a record yearly rate of $38.35 billion during the July-September quarter. This brings the all-year rate of such spending to $37.4 billion and if continued to the end of the year would eclipse the previous high of $37 billion in 1957.

Government and private economists rely heavily on the survey because it shows, in addition to the amount of job-creating investment being done, what business executives think about future sales and earnings. If they are confident, they expand.

The survey of future spending plans indicates a decline in the first quarter of 1963 to a $37.7 billion annual rate.

But some government economists, noting that industry itself underestimated its third quarter investment expenditures by about $500 million, speculated the gain will continue into next year.

Youth Charged With Homicide In Girl Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-year-old boy has been charged with homicide in the slaying of 9-year-old Lourdes Bass, who was raped on the roof of a Brooklyn housing project and then dropped 14 floors to her death.

Arrested Wednesday night was James Rooks, a Negro, also a resident of Farragut Houses, where the girl lived.

Police questioned 800 to 900 persons after the girl's body, clad only in shoes and socks, was found in a court Tuesday.

Rooks was picked up on the tip of a school-crossing guard who told of seeing the youth "exposing himself" on a bus in the area three weeks ago.

After two hours of questioning, police said, Rooks was quoted as admitting he met the girl on the street as she was returning to school after lunch and that he forced her into an elevator and took her to the roof.

Youth Charged With Homicide In Girl Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-year-old boy has been charged with homicide in the slaying of 9-year-old Lourdes Bass, who was raped on the roof of a Brooklyn housing project and then dropped 14 floors to her death.

Arrested Wednesday night was James Rooks, a Negro, also a resident of Farragut Houses, where the girl lived.

Police questioned 800 to 900 persons after the girl's body, clad only in shoes and socks, was found in a court Tuesday.

Rooks was picked up on the tip of a school-crossing guard who told of seeing the youth "exposing himself" on a bus in the area three weeks ago.

After two hours of questioning, police said, Rooks was quoted as admitting he met the girl on the street as she was returning to school after lunch and that he forced her into an elevator and took her to the roof.

quested a re-reading of the judge's charge concerning the five essential elements in the case.

Miss Smith of Fairmont St., former chief clerk in the water department, was indicted for embezzlement of the sum in the period of May 1959 to November 1961.

Had Withheld Bills

She has admitted withholding customers bill stubs and using the money to keep the books seemingly balanced, but claims she did so under instruction from Frank Robinson, then superintendent, to hide an alleged theft of $10,900 from the office vault in 1959.

Of the additional $12,000 in the sum found unaccounted for in a state audit, Miss Smith testified she did not know what happened.

The five essential elements for conviction, as listed by Judge Sharp yesterday, were:

1. Whether the defendant was the chief clerk.

2. Whether, as chief clerk, she was charged with the collection, accounting for, safekeeping and deposit of funds received in the office.

3. Whether she did receive such money in the course of her duties.

Fraudulent Angle

4. Whether she did fraudulently misappropriate or embezzle $23,841 or any part of that sum.

5. Whether the embezzlement took place in the period charged —1959-61.

Miss Smith, Judge Sharp pointed out, has admitted the first and third elements.

In her defense, Miss Smith denied that she was chiefly responsible for fiscal matters in the office and that she took any money.

Atty. Springer pointed out there had been invoices included in the audit which dated back to 1957-58, which represented a previous amount of money which customers had proved they had paid although they had been listed as delinquent.

Asked If Near Verdict

Shortly after 4 p. m. yesterday, Judge Sharp summoned the panel into the courtroom and asked if the members felt a decision could be reached "in an hour or so?"

Judge Sharp then excused the panel overnight, suggesting the respite could give them a new look at their deliberations.

The judge advised them to review the evidence, "considering your opinion and also the opinions of the other jurors coolly."

"If you allow your emotions to become involved, you or any other jury can get in trouble," he declared.

The trial, which began Nov. 26 today was in its eighth day. Prosecutor G. William Brokaw presented 18 witnesses and the defense 11.

about a mile east of Route 164 when his car left the road, officers said. McKelvy was cited for driving while intoxicated.

Jeannie Wright, 15, and Lucille Wright, 41, both of Hanoverton, were injured when a car in which they were passengers collided with another auto then struck a parked car on Route 30 about four miles west of Hanoverton yesterday afternoon.

The girl suffered a fractured foot and cuts of the forehead, and the woman received a laceration of the right knee. They were treated at Alliance City Hospital.

The patrol said they were passengers in an auto operated by Timothy Wright, 21, of Hanoverton. A compact truck driven by Marilyn J. Summers, 26, of Minerva pulled from the side of the road into the path of Wright's car, which struck the truck then hit a parked auto owned by Alvin Richardson of Minerva.

Sandra J. Pancake, 18, of Negley R. D. 1 escaped injury when her auto struck a utility pole on Route 154 about four miles east of Route 7 yesterday. Officers said she was traveling too fast for road conditions and lost control on a curve.

An auto operated by Joyce McLaughlin, 23, of Rogers R. D. 1 went out of control on snow on Route 154 a half mile west of Route 170 at 8 p. m. and overturned on the berm.

A tractor truck driven by Ralph Hanlon, 24, of Follansbee was damaged when he pulled off Route 7 a half mile north of Route 30 at 7:30 p. m. to avoid a crash with another rig, officers said.

$400 Damage Caused In Mishap At Chester

About $400 damage was caused to two autos in a skidding collision on the 1st St. overhead bridge in Chester Wednesday afternoon about 3:15.

when the raid was pulled, the constables said.

The raiding party also said they are considering additional charges against Watson and one may require a bond of $1,000. They are allowed one year to take any further action, they added.

"The whole series of events still is under investigation," Constable Davis said, indicating a probe into the slashing of six tires on the cars of two constables in the raiding party by some of 60 patrons who fled outside during the excitement.

The waitress is charged with selling non-intoxicating beer without a license at the Rio Club, behind the Cactus Bar on Route 30 east of Chester.

Rushton is charged with being employed as a doorman where gaming devices are exhibited and interfering with an officer.

The trio of constables obtained search and seizure warrants from Squire Allison and forced their way into the gaming casino Sunday at 4:15 a. m., interrupting a barbut game in progress.

They confiscated and hauled away two slot machines, cards and dice, a blackjack table, the gambing clock, stools and chairs, whisky and beer.

The barbut table itself was not impounded immediately, but will eventually be destroyed, the constables said.

The Los Angeles Angels came from behind 35 times in late innings to win American League games last season. Eighteen of the wins came on their final turn at bat.

Funds

Before the fund ordinance was read last night, Willshaw told Council the lack of funds and the extra meeting that resulted was "strictly the fault of the city auditor—nobody else."

Willshaw recalled that the finance committee met with Applegate Nov. 21 to make a list of all the necessary fund transfers and allocations in order that they all could be listed in a single supplementary appropriation, which was enacted Nov. 27.

Despite the fact the street department payroll fund was overdrawn then, Applegate did not mention it, Willshaw declared.

"We had a letter from the auditor Sept. 12 advising us the payroll funds for the street department would be inadequate to finish out the year," Willshaw said. "We knew that was to be expected and we agreed to meet with him before the end of the year.

"On Nov. 21, we had that meeting. We sat in the auditor's office for five hours, going over every account. The street fund was gone over, as you gentlemen know. The appropriation subsequently included two items for the street department.

"On three distinct occasions that night, the auditor was asked if there were any other items that it would be necessary to take care of before the final meeting in December. Each time he said 'no.' So we went ahead and prepared the ordinance.

"We received a letter from the auditor in which he said: 'The law is abundantly clear when it reads the auditor should not allow the amount set aside for any appropriation to be overdrawn.' The night we had the meeting, the fund already was overdrawn. He didn't mention it and we didn't know about it until we found out last Saturday.

"The auditor probably doesn't know it, but he has two other funds that are overdrawn — materials and supplies in the street department and the Municipal Court clerk's stationery. We have never been informed of it."

After the brief ordinance was read, favorable votes were cast by Councilmen Floyd Murray, Kenneth C. Berg, S. James Welch, Robert W. Sample Jr., Frank Duffy and Willshaw. Councilman Edward Massey, who had been held up in traffic on his way from work at Midland, hurried in a moment later and added his vote, making it 7-0.

Meanwhile, Applegate issued a statement today in which he denied that Willshaw asked him on three occassions Nov. 21 if any other funds required supplemental appropriations.

The statement "is untrue and he knows it," the auditor said.

Applegate recalled that he mailed a letter to Council in mid-September warning that the street department payroll fund would be exhausted before the end of the year at the then-current rate of expenditure. He said he recalled that Willshaw replied: "'I do not believe the situation is serious as long as we know what direction we are going'."

Continuing, Applegate said: "The fact the members of the street department were not paid on their reular payday is serious, in my opinion, and it also leads me to believe that Mr. Willshaw does not know in what direction he should be going.

"If Mr. Willshaw chooses to ignore the information that the auditor sends to him regarding the necessity of providing additional funds for certain departments, then the auditor has but one alternative — to refuse to pay the bills that are involved.

"I fully realize that to err is human, but let us not lay the blame for inefficiency on others, especially if the issues are clear and the other party has been fully advised as to what the circumstances really are and then chooses to ignore them."

City Woman's Car Damaged On Bridge

A city woman's auto and another Ohio car were damaged Wednesday afternoon in a crash at the end of the Newell bridge, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported.

The collision involved a car operated by James Kuhar of New Middleton, who was turning south off the bridge, and a southbound car driven by Mildred S. Willis, 401 Ridgeway Ave., deputies said.

They estimated about $150 damage to the Willis car and approximately $60 to the Kuhar vehicle.

Deputies were investigating two other crashes this morning, both on Route 66 near New Cumberland.

Summers, 26, of Minerva pulled from the side of the road into the path of Wright's car, which struck the truck then hit a parked auto owned by Alvin Richardson of Minerva.

Sandra J. Pancake, 18, of Negley R. D. 1 escaped injury when her auto struck a utility pole on Route 154 about four miles east of Route 7 yesterday. Officers said she was traveling too fast for road conditions and lost control on a curve.

An auto operated by Joyce McLaughlin, 23, of Rogers R. D. 1 went out of control on snow on Route 154 a half mile west of Route 170 at 8 p. m. and overturned on the berm.

A tractor truck driven by Ralph Hanlon, 24, of Follansbee was damaged when he pulled off Route 7 a half mile north of Route 30 at 7:30 p. m. to avoid a crash with another rig, officers said.

$400 Damage Caused In Mishap At Chester

About $400 damage was caused to two autos in a skidding collision on the 1st St. overhead bridge in Chester Wednesday afternoon about 3:15.

A 1962 sedan operated by Carl M. Davis, 63, of Charles Town, W. Va., hit the rear of a 1957 coupe driven by Earl Moore, 31, of New Cumberland R. D. 1.

Both drivers reported the mishap to Patrolman Frank Fetty at the City Hall.

Election Plans Aired

LISBON — Plans for the forthcoming primary and municipal elections were discussed at a meeting of the Columbiana County Democrat executive and central committees Monday night at the party headquarters in Lisbon. No date has been set for the January session, according to Don Gosney of Columbiana, county chairman.

Board Names Staff Of Fair

LISBON — Department heads who will help plan and operate the 1963 Columbiana County Fair were named Wednesday night when the County Agricultural Society met in the county extension offices.

Ben Weingart, president, announced appointment of:

Richard Stockman, harness races; Edwin Thompson, show horses and ponies; Fred Schoeni, cattle; Ike Skeels, sheep and swine; Walter Johnson, grain seed, hay and horse - pulling.

William Maple, vegetables, fruit, culinary arts, textiles, arts and education, and William Werner, Junior Fair and tractor-pulling. Two more department heads will be named later.

P. R. Corey of Fairfield Township was elected delegate to the State Fair Managers' meeting in Columbus Jan. 15-17. William Werner of Perry Township is alternate. Several other members also plan to attend.

Fair premiums were discussed, but no official action was taken.

Next meeting is Jan. 2 at 8 p.m. in the extension office.

Arrest

when the raid was pulled, the constables said.

The raiding party also said they are considering additional charges against Watson and one may require a bond of $1,000. They are allowed one year to take any further action, they added.

"The whole series of events still is under investigation," Constable Davis said, indicating a probe into the slashing of six tires on the cars of two constables in the raiding party by some of 60 patrons who fled outside during the excitement.

The waitress is charged with selling non-intoxicating beer without a license at the Rio Club, behind the Cactus Bar on Route 30 east of Chester.

Rushton is charged with being employed as a doorman where gaming devices are exhibited and interfering with an officer.

The trio of constables obtained search and seizure warrants from Squire Allison and forced their way into the gaming casino Sunday at 4:15 a. m., interrupting a barbut game in progress.

They confiscated and hauled away two slot machines, cards and dice, a blackjack table, the gambing clock, stools and chairs, whisky and beer.

The barbut table itself was not impounded immediately, but will eventually be destroyed, the constables said.

The Los Angeles Angels came from behind 35 times in late innings to win American League games last season. Eighteen of the wins came on their final turn at bat.

Funds

Before the fund ordinance was read last night, Willshaw told Council the lack of funds and the extra meeting that resulted was "strictly the fault of the city auditor—nobody else."

Willshaw recalled that the finance committee met with Applegate Nov. 21 to make a list of all the necessary fund transfers and allocations in order that they all could be listed in a single supplementary appropriation, which was enacted Nov. 27.

Despite the fact the street department payroll fund was overdrawn then, Applegate did not mention it, Willshaw declared.

"We had a letter from the auditor Sept. 12 advising us the payroll funds for the street department would be inadequate to finish out the year," Willshaw said. "We knew that was to be expected and we agreed to meet with him before the end of the year.

"On Nov. 21, we had that meeting. We sat in the auditor's office for five hours, going over every account. The street fund was gone over, as you gentlemen know. The appropriation subsequently included two items for the street department.

"On three distinct occasions that night, the auditor was asked if there were any other items that it would be necessary to take care of before the final meeting in December. Each time he said 'no.' So we went ahead and prepared the ordinance.

"We received a letter from the auditor in which he said: 'The law is abundantly clear when it reads the auditor should not allow the amount set aside for any appropriation to be overdrawn.' The night we had the meeting, the fund already was overdrawn. He didn't mention it and we didn't know about it until we found out last Saturday.

"The auditor probably doesn't know it, but he has two other funds that are overdrawn — materials and supplies in the street department and the Municipal Court clerk's stationery. We have never been informed of it."

After the brief ordinance was read, favorable votes were cast by Councilmen Floyd Murray, Kenneth C. Berg, S. James Welch, Robert W. Sample Jr., Frank Duffy and Willshaw. Councilman Edward Massey, who had been held up in traffic on his way from work at Midland, hurried in a moment later and added his vote, making it 7-0.

Meanwhile, Applegate issued a statement today in which he denied that Willshaw asked him on three occassions Nov. 21 if any other funds required supplemental appropriations.

The statement "is untrue and he knows it," the auditor said.

Applegate recalled that he mailed a letter to Council in mid-September warning that the street department payroll fund would be exhausted before the end of the year at the then-current rate of expenditure. He said he recalled that Willshaw replied: "'I do not believe the situation is serious as long as we know what direction we are going'."

Continuing, Applegate said: "The fact the members of the street department were not paid on their reular payday is serious, in my opinion, and it also leads me to believe that Mr. Willshaw does not know in what direction he should be going.

"If Mr. Willshaw chooses to ignore the information that the auditor sends to him regarding the necessity of providing additional funds for certain departments, then the auditor has but one alternative — to refuse to pay the bills that are involved.

"I fully realize that to err is human, but let us not lay the blame for inefficiency on others, especially if the issues are clear and the other party has been fully advised as to what the circumstances really are and then chooses to ignore them."

City Woman's Car Damaged On Bridge

A city woman's auto and another Ohio car were damaged Wednesday afternoon in a crash at the end of the Newell bridge, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported.

The collision involved a car operated by James Kuhar of New Middleton, who was turning south off the bridge, and a southbound car driven by Mildred S. Willis, 401 Ridgeway Ave., deputies said.

They estimated about $150 damage to the Willis car and approximately $60 to the Kuhar vehicle.

Deputies were investigating two other crashes this morning, both on Route 66 near New Cumberland.

Pope Celebrates Mass In His Private Chapel

Apparently it was the first time he had said Mass since becoming ill nine days ago.

There had been reports that he had celebrated Mass before in that period but until today, no Vatican source confirmed that he had. Today's information about the Mass was published in the Vatican paper, L'Osservatore Romano.

L'Osservatore and other Vatican sources gave no report on his condition. But the news that he had celebrated Mass—requiring him to be on his feet at least 30 minutes —was considered evidence of the continued improvement of his condition.

300 Chinese Reported In Invasion Area

TEZPUR, India (AP)—An estimated 300 Chinese troops were reported today scattered along the mountain road from this Indian army headquarters to Bomdila, 100 air miles to the north.

The estimate was given to newsmen by ambulance drivers who returned from Bomdila before dawn with 64 sick or wounded Indian prisoners released by the Red Chinese Wednesday, and the body of one man who died three days ago.

The Chinese "were in holes in the forest and mountains," one driver said.

The report from the drivers bore out Prime Minister Nehru's statement in the Indian Parliament Monday that the Chinese may have thinned out advance units of their invasion armies but have not withdrawn them in accordance with their self-proclaimed cease-fire.

Federal Judge Orders Probe On Robber Of Bank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge has ordered a complete investigation and probation report on a Lancaster bank robber who entered a guilty plea Wednesday.

Donald Lee Mattin, 25, went before Judge Carl A. Weinman only 48 hours after his arrest for the $4,500 robbery of the Alexandria Bank Co., Alexandria, Nov. 21.

The tall father of three told the judge he didn't know why he robbed the bank at gunpoint and Judge Weinman remarked: "You just don't look the type."

LISBON — An undetermined amount of money was taken from cigarette and soft drink machines in the Maenz service station on A-Route 14 near Salem in a burglary early Wednesday morning. New Element Injected Into Hoffa's Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Air pistol pellets fired at James R. Hoffa in court by an ex-mental patient have injected a new and unexpected element into the labor leader's conspiracy trial.

The shots were fired at Hoffa Wednesday by a man identified as Warren Swanson, 28, of Washington, D.C. Hoffa ducked, then lunged at the man, knocking him to the floor.

Swanson required 14 stitches to repair head wounds. A deputy U.S. marshal struck him on the back of the head with a pistol and a Hoffa bodyguard got in a few kicks before the bleeding man was led from court in handcuffs.

Miller ordered six additional armed marshals for courtroom duty and directed that henceforth everyone entering the court be searched.

Hoffa, 49, is accused of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting undercover payments from a transport firm in return for labor peace. The trial is in its seventh week.

The jury was out of the courtroom when the incident occurred. Miller ordered the jurors locked up overnight for the first time during the trial to prevent their hearing about it.

While Swanson underwent emergency treatment at a hospital, he told newsmen he came here to kill Hoffa—a man he had never met—because of a vision he had last month.

"It sounds crazy, but I just got a message from a higher power," he said. He said the "message" came as he read the Bible in a Cincinnati, Ohio, hotel room in August.

A voice told me—'You have to kill Jimmy Hoffa' — it said it twice" he said.

The attack on Hoffa came a year to the day after Swanson voluntarily entered the Camarillo State Hospital in Southern California for observation.

He was discharged Jan. 10 with the notation,"improved."

Pupil Turns Tables And Spanks Principal

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Leo Traen, principal of Loos School, traditionally gives "paddlings" to youngsters from kindergarten through fourth grade on their birthdays.

This week Traen had a birthday and a fourth grader turned the tables on him.

The little girl spanked and spanked and spanked (barehanded, that is), till she came to 40. Then she stopped and said, "Of course, that's just an estimate."

Traen walked away feeling oh so young. He's 55.

London Smog Deaths Mount

LONDON (AP) — Smog deaths rose to 66 in London today, and police predicted a final toll for Britain of hundreds of dead from the polluted fog.

Weathermen said the thick blanket, now in its third day, was thinning in many places. But they warned it would probably clamp down in London again after dusk.

The nine-day smog in 1952 killed at least 4,000 persons.

Adding to the discomfort were electric power failures that hit large sections near the capital. Thousands of suburban homes were without lights.

Clammy cold weather accompanied the fog.

Port officials said 101 ships were tied up in the London area.

The dawn also brought an improvement in the fog across the country. Traffic still was idled along the east coast and in the northern county of Yorkshire, but many other areas had cleared.

London airport was closed for the third day.

More than 60 sudden deaths Tuesday and Wednesday were attributed to smog. The victims were mostly people with heart or chest complaints whose condition was aggravated by the sulphurous pall.

With smoke and sulphur dioxide in the air amounting to 10 and 14 times the normal content, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday things were as bad as in 1952, when a killer smog caused at least 4,000 deaths.

The forecasters had predicted no letup, and 200 hospitals were alerted for a major disaster. Nearly 400 beds were taken Wednesday night by emergency cases.

A London County Council official said hundreds of people who were due to go into hospital for operations were told to stay at home.

"They could afford to wait," he said. "Smog victims cannot."

Khrushchev And Tito Begin Formal Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev and Yugoslav President Tito began formal conferences in the Kremlin today, presumably to weld a common front against the propaganda onslaught from Communist China.

Peking has been using Tito as its whipping boy in its ideological battle with Moscow, attacking the Yugoslav leader and, by indirection, Khrushchev.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Tito and Khrushchev discussed "questions related to the present international situation" as well as "questions pertaining to the further development of fraternal Soviet-Yugoslav" relations.

Pope Celebrates Mass In His Private Chapel

Apparently it was the first time he had said Mass since becoming ill nine days ago.

There had been reports that he had celebrated Mass before in that period but until today, no Vatican source confirmed that he had. Today's information about the Mass was published in the Vatican paper, L'Osservatore Romano.

L'Osservatore and other Vatican sources gave no report on his condition. But the news that he had celebrated Mass—requiring him to be on his feet at least 30 minutes —was considered evidence of the continued improvement of his condition.

300 Chinese Reported In Invasion Area

TEZPUR, India (AP)—An estimated 300 Chinese troops were reported today scattered along the mountain road from this Indian army headquarters to Bomdila, 100 air miles to the north.

The estimate was given to newsmen by ambulance drivers who returned from Bomdila before dawn with 64 sick or wounded Indian prisoners released by the Red Chinese Wednesday, and the body of one man who died three days ago.

The Chinese "were in holes in the forest and mountains," one driver said.

The report from the drivers bore out Prime Minister Nehru's statement in the Indian Parliament Monday that the Chinese may have thinned out advance units of their invasion armies but have not withdrawn them in accordance with their self-proclaimed cease-fire.

Federal Judge Orders Probe On Robber Of Bank

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A federal judge has ordered a complete investigation and probation report on a Lancaster bank robber who entered a guilty plea Wednesday.

Donald Lee Mattin, 25, went before Judge Carl A. Weinman only 48 hours after his arrest for the $4,500 robbery of the Alexandria Bank Co., Alexandria, Nov. 21.

The tall father of three told the judge he didn't know why he robbed the bank at gunpoint and Judge Weinman remarked: "You just don't look the type."

Youth, 17, In Girl Slaying Found Sane

Butler County Prosecutor Robert Marrs reported the findings Wednesday.

Coin Machines Looted

LISBON — An undetermined amount of money was taken from cigarette and soft drink machines in the Maenz service station on A-Route 14 near Salem in a burglary early Wednesday morning. Deputy Sheriff Herman Welman said the intruder crawled through a restroom window. Ernest Maenz, operator, discovered the theft when he opened yesterday morning.

New Element Injected Into Hoffa's Trial

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Air pistol pellets fired at James R. Hoffa in court by an ex-mental patient have injected a new and unexpected element into the labor leader's conspiracy trial.

The shots were fired at Hoffa Wednesday by a man identified as Warren Swanson, 28, of Washington, D.C. Hoffa ducked, then lunged at the man, knocking him to the floor.

Swanson required 14 stitches to repair head wounds. A deputy U.S. marshal struck him on the back of the head with a pistol and a Hoffa bodyguard got in a few kicks before the bleeding man was led from court in handcuffs.

Miller ordered six additional armed marshals for courtroom duty and directed that henceforth everyone entering the court be searched.

Hoffa, 49, is accused of conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting undercover payments from a transport firm in return for labor peace. The trial is in its seventh week.

The jury was out of the courtroom when the incident occurred. Miller ordered the jurors locked up overnight for the first time during the trial to prevent their hearing about it.

While Swanson underwent emergency treatment at a hospital, he told newsmen he came here to kill Hoffa—a man he had never met—because of a vision he had last month.

"It sounds crazy, but I just got a message from a higher power," he said. He said the "message" came as he read the Bible in a Cincinnati, Ohio, hotel room in August.

A voice told me—'You have to kill Jimmy Hoffa' — it said it twice" he said.

The attack on Hoffa came a year to the day after Swanson voluntarily entered the Camarillo State Hospital in Southern California for observation.

He was discharged Jan. 10 with the notation,"improved."

Pupil Turns Tables And Spanks Principal

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Leo Traen, principal of Loos School, traditionally gives "paddlings" to youngsters from kindergarten through fourth grade on their birthdays.

This week Traen had a birthday and a fourth grader turned the tables on him.

The little girl spanked and spanked and spanked (barehanded, that is), till she came to 40. Then she stopped and said, "Of course, that's just an estimate."

Traen walked away feeling oh so young. He's 55.

London Smog Deaths Mount

LONDON (AP) — Smog deaths rose to 66 in London today, and police predicted a final toll for Britain of hundreds of dead from the polluted fog.

Weathermen said the thick blanket, now in its third day, was thinning in many places. But they warned it would probably clamp down in London again after dusk.

The nine-day smog in 1952 killed at least 4,000 persons.

Adding to the discomfort were electric power failures that hit large sections near the capital. Thousands of suburban homes were without lights.

Clammy cold weather accompanied the fog.

Port officials said 101 ships were tied up in the London area.

The dawn also brought an improvement in the fog across the country. Traffic still was idled along the east coast and in the northern county of Yorkshire, but many other areas had cleared.

London airport was closed for the third day.

More than 60 sudden deaths Tuesday and Wednesday were attributed to smog. The victims were mostly people with heart or chest complaints whose condition was aggravated by the sulphurous pall.

With smoke and sulphur dioxide in the air amounting to 10 and 14 times the normal content, the Weather Bureau said Wednesday things were as bad as in 1952, when a killer smog caused at least 4,000 deaths.

The forecasters had predicted no letup, and 200 hospitals were alerted for a major disaster. Nearly 400 beds were taken Wednesday night by emergency cases.

A London County Council official said hundreds of people who were due to go into hospital for operations were told to stay at home.

"They could afford to wait," he said. "Smog victims cannot."

Khrushchev And Tito Begin Formal Talks

Peking has been using Tito as its whipping boy in its ideological battle with Moscow, attacking the Yugoslav leader and, by indirection, Khrushchev.

The Soviet news agency Tass said Tito and Khrushchev discussed "questions related to the present international situation" as well as "questions pertaining to the further development of fraternal Soviet-Yugoslav" relations.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Narrowing Of The Lens

Alan Gill

Or it goes from the wide open spaces of "The Virginian" and "Wagon Train" down to the sheepish grin on Johnny Carson's face. And I get the feeling from time to time that my own world grows ever larger as the TV world shrinks.

Take a Tuesday night as a case in point. Last week, we were whisked right after dinner to World War II, which is a rather sizable piece of terrain for the small screen to encompass.

The other night, Tab Hunter marched through the bursting shells as a major league pitcher who copped out when the going got rough. Seems he was afraid of hurting his $1 million arm.

The leader of this disastrous patrol was Sgt. Saunders, who is played by Vic Morrow. (You can always identify Mr. Morrow right off; he's the soldier who isn't Rick Jason.)

Anyway, Mr. Morrow certainly was sore at Mr. Hunter for pooping out that way. But then Mr. Hunter, after he'd heard he could be transferred to Special Services in London, pulled himself together and went right on up to the front and tossed a grenade into a German machine gun nest just as we knew he would.

THERE WERE NO embarrassments along the way.

Oh, I have a line jotted down in my notes that reads, "I've got my own private war, and I can't fight it out in London, can I?" But we'll let it pass. The writing was crisp enough, the acting was good, and the war looked like a big one.

Then we were off to "Empire," which is slightly smaller in scope than the Western Front but is still pretty big; and here, I must admit, the notes get a little glutinous.

"He sure makes big footprints," said a young ranch hand about Glenn Kassin, a superman type in cape and sun glasses who was building a metropolis on the range. (Kassin was played with just the right nasty grandiloquence by Dan O'Herlihy.)

THIS architectural Titan was given to saying such things as, "Progress is free; I'm giving you tomorrow." Or, as the line of bulldozers went off like the 7th Fleet, "Build me a city, Tom." or, "I'll build my city over your cities, over 1,000 cities, over your grave!"

And to a pretty little blonde, he said hoarsely, "I'll give you the key to the penthouse in the tallest tower."

But then he made the mistake of telling our hero, Redigo, "I don't like anybody standing in my way."

"Then move," said Redigo, "in another direction."

Still, I get the feeling about "Empire" that its failure lies not in its literary style but in its modernity. The problems of running a modern ranch are as drab as home economics anywhere; and the villains of the '60s just don't have the ruddy flavor they had 100 years ago.

IN OUR HOUSE, the television night in question narrowed down to the quiet sobriety of Chet Huntley. (There was, a moment before, the Dick Powell episode that had John Payne wandering about in a Mexican border town and we'll forget about that.)

Mr. Huntley's topic was capital punishment, and his guests were a former warden (Clinton Duffy) and a prison chaplain (Rev. Byron Eshelman; who maintained that the people who generally make it to Death Row are "the poor, downtrodden and underprivileged."

These softly uttered words — and all the other carefully weighed words on the program — were stronger stuff than we'd heard all through World War II, "Empire," and the shoot-'em-up in Nogales.

Sure, I agree it's not fair to equate a documentary with a thriller. I'm only saying that TV is inherently a guest in the house, not a sound truck. It often makes its biggest bang when it whispers.

Out Of The Air

By ALAN GILL

The Narrowing Of The Lens

As many a typical television evening wears on, the lens seems to narrow. The evening starts with Jackie Gleason and winds up with a weather girl.

Alan Gill

Or it goes from the wide open spaces of "The Virginian" and "Wagon Train" down to the sheepish grin on Johnny Carson's face. And I get the feeling from time to time that my own world grows ever larger as the TV world shrinks.

Take a Tuesday night as a case in point. Last week, we were whisked right after dinner to World War II, which is a rather sizable piece of terrain for the small screen to encompass.

"COMBAT," however, is undeterred by such misgivings and goes right on to bring those mortar shells into our living room. The place is a mess for days.

The other night, Tab Hunter marched through the bursting shells as a major league pitcher who copped out when the going got rough. Seems he was afraid of hurting his $1 million arm.

The leader of this disastrous patrol was Sgt. Saunders, who is played by Vic Morrow. (You can always identify Mr. Morrow right off; he's the soldier who isn't Rick Jason.)

Anyway, Mr. Morrow certainly was sore at Mr. Hunter for pooping out that way. But then Mr. Hunter, after he'd heard he could be transferred to Special Services in London, pulled himself together and went right on up to the front and tossed a grenade into a German machine gun nest just as we knew he would.

THERE WERE NO embarrassments along the way.

Oh, I have a line jotted down in my notes that reads, "I've got my own private war, and I can't fight it out in London, can I?" But we'll let it pass. The writing was crisp enough, the acting was good, and the war looked like a big one.

Then we were off to "Empire," which is slightly smaller in scope than the Western Front but is still pretty big; and here, I must admit, the notes get a little glutinous.

"He sure makes big footprints," said a young ranch hand about Glenn Kassin, a superman type in cape and sun glasses who was building a metropolis on the range. (Kassin was played with just the right nasty grandiloquence by Dan O'Herlihy.)

THIS architectural Titan was given to saying such things as, "Progress is free; I'm giving you tomorrow." Or, as the line of bulldozers went off like the 7th Fleet, "Build me a city, Tom." or, "I'll build my city over your cities, over 1,000 cities, over your grave!"

And to a pretty little blonde, he said hoarsely, "I'll give you the key to the penthouse in the tallest tower."

But then he made the mistake of telling our hero, Redigo, "I don't like anybody standing in my way."

"Then move," said Redigo, "in another direction."

Still, I get the feeling about "Empire" that its failure lies not in its literary style but in its modernity. The problems of running a modern ranch are as drab as home economics anywhere; and the villains of the '60s just don't have the ruddy flavor they had 100 years ago.

IN OUR HOUSE, the television night in question narrowed down to the quiet sobriety of Chet Huntley. (There was, a moment before, the Dick Powell episode that had John Payne wandering about in a Mexican border town and we'll forget about that.)

Mr. Huntley's topic was capital punishment, and his guests were a former warden (Clinton Duffy) and a prison chaplain (Rev. Byron Eshelman; who maintained that the people who generally make it to Death Row are "the poor, downtrodden and underprivileged."

A Negro murderer, it was said, is much more likely to be executed than a white murderer.

"We use the Negroes," the chaplain said, "a little the way the Nazis used the Jews."

These softly uttered words — and all the other carefully weighed words on the program — were stronger stuff than we'd heard all through World War II, "Empire," and the shoot-'em-up in Nogales.

Sure, I agree it's not fair to equate a documentary with a thriller. I'm only saying that TV is inherently a guest in the house, not a sound truck. It often makes its biggest bang when it whispers.

Common Pleas Court Disposes Of 45 Cases

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have been reading your column for a long time and notice that some people write just to let off steam. This is what I am doing.

I'm an ardent club worker and spend a great deal of time on the telephone. I simply can't stand it when women eat while they are talking. That crunching over the telephone drives me crazy.

The other evening one woman was making so much noise I decided to let her know she was annoying me. I asked her outright, "How is the celery?"

Then she continued crunching.

Another woman who tipples a good bit always has an ice cube in her mouth. Frequently she says, "Just a minute. I have to stir this Tom Collins." Then I hear the tinkling and gulping.

What is the matter with people that they have to eat and drink while on the phone? Or am I getting finicky in my old age? — FUSS BUDGET.

Dear Fuss: People who munch crunch and gulp on the phone are rude and they ought to be told.

(Personal confession: I blushingly admit I've done it myself!)

One Lone Gift

Dear Ann: I know you are against announcements. I know, too, you don't think a person who gets an announcement is obliged to send a gift. Could THIS case be the exception?

I belong to a large family. For almost 40 years I've been sending graduation gifts, wedding gifts, baby gifts, birthday and Christmas gifts to dozens and dozens of relatives.

My youngest daughter was engaged for two years. Her fiance came home last month and they hurriedly decided to be married. There was no time for wedding invitations, so we sent announcements to 60 close relatives.

The young couple received ONE gift. We did not send announcements with the idea she would receive gifts. We just wanted people to know. What do you think of the small return? — HURT.

Dear Hurt: If you sent the announcements merely to let people know, then you have accomplished your purpose. So why be hurt?

Scent Lingers

Dear Ann: My husband and I are in our early 30s. We both had hacking coughs for so long that neither of us could remember exactly when our coughs started. Upon learning that we were a five-pack-a-day family, our doctor suggested we cut down on cigarettes.

We decided it would be easier to cut out smoking completely than to cut down. So we took a joint oath and threw out last packs into the Hudson River.

Three months have passed and I have been 100 per cent honorable about the agreement. I believe my husband has kept his word, too. But, whenever he kisses me he swears he can detect cigarette odor and this burns me up.

Do you think he does this to needle me or what? What can I do about it? — NO SMOKE SCREEN.

Dear No Smoke: Every human has his own distinct scent. It may be that in the past your husband associated your scent with tobacco and he still does.

There is the possibility, too, that your skin and hair absorb other people's cigarette smoke, making you smell guilty.

Confidentially

TO RIDING HIGH: Man is dust. Dust settles. Be a man.

Man Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother Admits Breaking Arms Of Her Daughter

CLEVELAND (AP)—Detectives say Mrs. Mary Edwards, 20, has admitted she twisted and broke the arms of her 3 - month - old daughter, Patricia, who died Wednesday.

Dr. Lester Adelson, deputy Cuyahoga County coroner, ordered the investigation after determining that the child's arms and legs were fractured and that she suffered internal injuries.

Homicide Detective Frank Moss said Mrs. Edwards told him at first the child had fallen out of bed but later admitted twisting the girl's arms.

Her husband, James, 23, said he had no knowledge of the child's injuries, Moss reported.

Moss said Mrs. Edwards could give no explanation of her actions.

The couple was being held for investigation.

Michigan State retained three football trophies in 1962. They were the Paul Bunyan, Megaphone and Spittoon trophies. They beat Michigan, Notre Dame and Indiana, respectively.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Friends: Necessity IS the mother of invention!

Being not only a mother . . . but without soap, pads, scouring pads, soda, cream of tartar, and everything else to clean a burned pan, while on a recent vacation, I ran across something different.

Know what it was? It was that old suede brush! Yep, the very one we use to clean our suede shoes.

I burned—yes, even Heloise burns pans once in a while — a pan, but good. I filled it up with hot water and a little liquid detergent and let it sit overnight. The next morning, the roast and the potatoes were still stuck! My fingernails and my kitchen knife would not remove it.

Then daylight dawned upon me. There was nothing in the house but my suede brush. As a last resort, I used it, and if that's not the best scouring brush I ever used!

This brush has a wooden back on it so it did not even ruin the polish on my fingernails!

Gals, I suppose you all have an old suede brush in the house. And even if it is your best one, who cares? These brushes can be washed easily, and laid in the kitchen window to dry. Again I'm gonna say . . . don't knock it until you have tried it.

(For those of you who do not have suede brushes, these can be bought in your dime and department stores. They are very inexpensive.).

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found only one way to keep brown sugar soft.

Squeeze the box of sugar at the grocery store to make sure you have bought soft, fresh sugar to start with. As soon as you get home remove the box but leave on the waxed paper. Then wrap this in foil tightly and store it in your refrigerator. It keeps soft for months!

I just discovered that an angel food cake will slice easily without crumbling after being frozen at least 24 hours and then thawing.

DORIS B.

DEAR HELOISE: There is no need to iron a shower curtain after washing to get the wrinkles out.

Simply hang the curtain up again in the shower, turn on the shower hot water faucet spray and hold as much of the curtain as you possibly can under it. Turn the shower off and let the curtain drip dry. The wrinkles will be gone!

JANYTH HUSIC.

DEAR HELOISE: I have three children and was recently faced with the situation of my wife being in the hospital, and of me being confined to the house.

This left me the position of being chief cook and bottle washer. Not being able to afford a maid, I did the washing, housekeeping and tended to the children.

Any male head of the household who thinks that the housekeeping duties of a mother are simple, just needs to talk for a few minutes with me! I have been there.

I had to take a vacation from my job in order to do this. I never was so glad to get back to my job in my entire life.

I have always helped my wife with these duties through 14 years of marriage, but believe me, it is a lot different when you have them all to do yourself.

The hints which I have read in your column saved me many a step in performing these daily routine tasks which my wife had done each day. I now look forward to having coffee with you and your readers each morning.

I wish to remain anonymous so as not to cause a lot of discussion between the male members of the household regarding the responsibility of these tasks . . . .

A MALE ADMIRER.

Thank you for your letter. MANY men wrote the same thing. God bless each of you. I do!

16 Games Billed For District Teams This Weekend

Baker, Mira, Stovall, Saimes Selected Top Backs

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Fabulous Terry Baker, Jerry Stovall, George Mira and George Saimes —responsible for a combined total offense of over 5,000 yards this season—comprise the backfield of the 1962 Associated Press All-America Football team announced today.

Baker, an honor student in mechanical engineering at Oregon State, was named Heisman Trophy winner as the outstanding player of the year and was the top National Football League draft pick.

In all, six members of the All-America were first round NFL selections, including the versatile Stovall from Louisiana State, ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Dave Robinson of Penn State, center Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama and Purdue tackle Don Brumm.

Mira, the pass master of Miami, Fla., and fullback Saimes from Michigan State are joined by Damon Bame, fierce guard and linebacker from Southern California's national champions, tackle Bobby Bell of Minnesota and guard Johnny Treadwell, heart of unbeaten Texas' defense.

An unusual feature of the line which averaged 212 pounds per man—20 pounds less than last year's All-America forward wall —is that the most weight is packed into the end position. Richter is a 230-pounder who guarded a flank for the nation's No. 2 power. Robinson goes 222.

The fast, hard-hitting aggregation was picked on recommendations of eight regional boards composed of sports writers and broadcasters who took into account all games through Dec. 1.

Only one man in collegiate history ever cranked out more career total offense yardage than the left-handed passing Baker, whose 2,276 output this fall gave him 4,980 for his three varsity seasons. Johnny Bright of Drake set the mark of 5,903 a dozen years ago.

Baker was a Portland, Ore., high school teammate of halfback Mel Renfro, the brilliant University of Oregon star who landed a second team All-America berth. Mississippi's Glynn Griffing, Billy Moore of Arkansas and spectacular Eldon Portie of Brigham Young were other second team backs.

The line has ends Hugh Campbell of Washington State and Tom Hutchinson of Kentucky, tackles Art Gregory of Duke and Ray Schoenke of Southern Methodist, Georgia Tech's Rufus Guthrie and Oklahoma's Leon Cross at guards, with Don McKinnon of Dartmouth at center.

Ohio players who received honorable mention included:

BACKS—Terry Baker, Oregon State, 191, 6-3, 21, senior, Portland, Ore.; Jerry Stovall, Louisiana State, 185, 6-2, 21, senior, West Monroe, La.; George Mira, Miami, Fla., 180, 6-0, 20, junior, Key West, Fla.; George Saimes, Michigan State, 186, 5-10, 21, senior, Canton, Ohio.

The third team:

CENTER — Ray Mansfield, Washington.

21st In Row For Bearcats

Ohio State, Cincy Each Notch 3rd Straight Win

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It wasn't supposed to be like this at all.

This was supposed to be the year that Ohio State was from nowhere and—at last—Cincinnati moved out of the Buckeye shadow and into its rightful spot in the college basketball picture.

But, like an aging star who is loathe to leave, the Buckeyes just won't give up the ghost.

They took their third straight Wednesday night, beating Virginia 70-46 and keeping pace with top-ranked Cincinnati, which rolled over Miami of Ohio 58-36, the Bearcats' third of the season and 21st victory in a row.

The Bearcats were the only member of the Top Ten in action Wednesday. In some of the other major results, Texas put on its best defensive showing in more than 10 years in subduing East Texas State 71-38 and Nick Werkman, the nation's third leading scorer last season, scored 37 points in leading Seton Hall to a 90-70 conquest of St. Anselm's of New Hampshire.

California beat St. Mary's of California 77-63, Tennessee won from Xavier of Ohio 63-48, Oklahoma State crushed Montana 65-47 and North Carolina used a huge edge in rebounding to beat Clemson 64-48.

Two years in a row Ohio State had been picked as the nation's best, and led every weekly poll—up until the NCAA title game. Twice they lost the national title to Cincinnati.

This then, said the critics, should be the year Ohio State falls from favor and Cincinnati takes over. It looked that way in the early voting this season, too, with Cincinnati ranked No. 1 and Ohio State out of the Top Ten.

The Cavaliers stayed close in the early going but Ohio State pulled away from a 22-21 lead to a 30-23 advantage at the half. They increased the margin steadily throughout the last half.

There 22-point final margin over Virginia, however, was much less than the 91-42 drubbing Cincinnati administered the same team earlier this week.

Penn set a school scoring record in a 101-57 rout of Rutgers and St. Joseph's held off Hofstra 70-64 in a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia.

Opens At Wellsville Friday

Lisbon Shows Tall Team, Injuries Have Hurt Pike

LISBON — The Lisbon Blue Devils will open their season Friday against a tough customer when they travel to Wellsville to take on the tall Tigers.

However, Coach Gary Pike, a former all-around great at Lisbon, is looking ahead to one of his best seasons since he returned to his alma mater three years ago.

PIKE SAID "Injuries have hurt us. Dave McPherson, a starter from last year, is out with a broken leg. Craig Pannier, another regular last season, is hampered with a bad back. If we get healthy, we could have a fine season."

Not including McPherson, Pike has four lettermen back. Three are seniors, the other a junior. All are six feet or better.

PANNIER, if he is ready to go, stands 6-foot-2 and was one of the leading scorers on last year's squad. Larry McPherson, the All-County quarterback in football, is the tallest. He stands 6-foot-3 and hits the scales at about 205.

The other senior is Dave Klug, who stands 6-foot-2. Dave Rose, a junior, is an even 6 feet, and won a letter last season as a sophomore.

Pike not only has four lettermen over the 6-foot mark, but not one of his first 10 players is under that measurement.

OUTSTANDING prospects who probably will see a lot of action are Larry Webber, a 6-foot-2 junior, and Ron and Don Crosser, both standing 6-foot.

Other members of the varsity are Charles Yoos, a 6-foot-4 junior, and Scott Carlisle, 6-foot-2 junior.

After the trip to Wellsville Friday, the Blue Devils will return home Saturday to meet West Branch. The first Tri-County League game is set Dec. 14 with Minerva on the Lisbon court.

Assisting Pike this season is George Alex, a former Salem athlete who was graduated from Ohio State.

Dec.	7 Wellsville	Away
Dec.	8 West Branch	Home
Dec.	14 Minerva	Home
Dec.	15 Carrollton	Home
Dec.	22 United	Away
Jan.	4 Leetonia	Home
Jan.	5 Louisville	Away
Jan.	11 Poland	Away
Jan.	12 Columbiana	Home
Jan.	18 East Palestine	Home
Jan.	19 Sebring	Away
Jan.	25 Minerva	Away
Feb.	1 Leetonia	Away

Cincinnati Rates No. 1 Poll Place

By The Associated Press

It took two long years and a couple of national titles to do it, but the Cincinnati Bearcats finally reached the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press regular season weekly basketball poll.

The veteran Bearcats were an overwhelming choice for the top spot in the first weekly poll Wednesday, gaining 38 first place votes on the 44 ballots cast and outdistancing the second team by more than 100 points.

Strangely, it was the first time in three years Cincinnati had topped the poll, though the school won the NCAA title the last two seasons. Ohio State led each week for the last two seasons, only to fall before the Bearcats twice in the NCAA finals.

Only three other teams received first place votes. Duke got three, West Virginia two and Texas one. The Duke Blue Devils edged West Virginia for second place, 307 points to 281.

High-scoring Loyola of Chicago, which scored more than 100 points in each of its first two triumphs, took fourth, followed by Mississippi State, Wisconsin, Oregon State, Indiana, Kentucky and Wichita in that order.

Kentucky, ranked third in the pre-season poll behind Cincinnati and Duke fell to ninth after suffering a upset at the hands of ambitious Virginia Tech, 80-77, in its opening game.

Hall Explains Ticket Sale For Alliance Tilt

There will not be an advanced sale of tickets in East Liverpool for the Potter - Alliance basketball game Saturday night in Alliance, Merrill Hall, ELHS athletic director, announced. All tickets on sale at the door will be general admission and are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Only Aviator season ticket patrons will receive reserved seat tickets.

Aliulis Also Leading Beaver Candidates

Beaver Local coach Tom McCall said he overlooked a leading prospect for his squad in discussing the Beavers 1962-63 outlook. The player is John Aliulis, a 5-foot-11 senior who saw some varsity action last season and is one of the better rebounders on the squad.

Potters Meet Alliance In First Big Eight Game Saturday

East Liverpool and Alliance will square off in the first Big 8 League game of the season Saturday night — one of 16 contests scheduled for district teams this weekend.

Nine games Friday will see most of the area teams getting their first taste of the new campaign. All teams will have at least one game under their belt after Saturday night with the exception of Chester, which will launch its season Tuesday at home against Newell in an afternoon game beginning at 2:30.

LISBON will invade Wellsville Friday night with one of the tallest clubs to come from the county seat in several years. Coach Gary Pike of Lisbon will need all the height he can muster, however, since Wellsville probably will floor its biggest club since the days of Bevo Francis.

Midland will be after its second straight after pulling a mild upset last Saturday when the Hank Kuzma magic worked for a victory over East Liverpool. The Leopards will entertain a strong Ambridge five Friday night.

OVER in Hancock County, Coach John Robison will send his charges after their third straight win at New Cumberland. Newell hasn't had much trouble in dumping Augusta and South Side.

Most of the teams in Columbiana County will be busy Friday night. Openers are set for Leetonia, which plays host to North Lima; Columbiana travels to Springfield Local, and Salem takes on Columbus East at home.

United will be in its home opener and meet Minerva. The Golden Eagles dropped their first start last Saturday.

SALINEVILLE and Stanton Local both will be seeking their first success of the season when the Indians invade the Stanton gym Friday night.

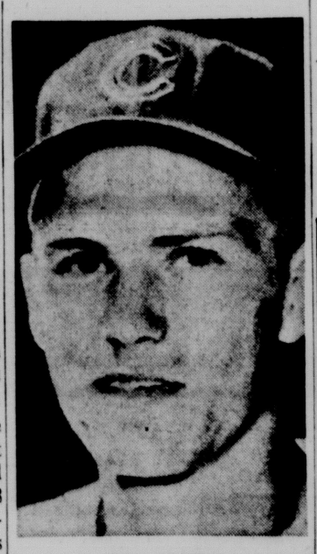
SEVEN GAMES are set Saturday. A big contest of local interest puts Beaver Local at Wellsville. The Beavers, like most teams the Tigers will face this season, are far under the size of McDevitt's crew.

Stanton Local will visit Wayne Saturday, while Crestview, which has one victory in two starts this season, will play at Salineville.

Columbiana will visit North Lima, East Palestine will go to Springfield Local and West Branch will be at Lisbon.

National Loop Rookie Honors Won By Hubbs



KEN HUBBS
Set Major League Marks.

BOSTON (AP)—Ken Hubbs, the rangy Chicago Cubs second baseman who excited the baseball world this past season by flashing to two fielding records, is the National League Rookie-of-the-Year for 1962 in a landslide.

The quick, sure-handed Californian, still 17 days short of his 21st birthday, was named on all but one of the 20 votes cast by a panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America, which announced the results Wednesday. Donn Clendenon, the Pittsburgh Pirates fine hitting young first baseman, received the other vote.

Hubbs broke two major league records for second baseman set by Bobby Doerr of the Boston Red Sox in 1948. The marks were 78 consecutive games without an error and 418 successive chances without an error. Doerr had strings of 72 games and 414 chances.

Hubbs batted .260, with five homers, 49 runs batted in and 90 scored for the Cubs.

The 6-foot-2, 180-pounder joined the Cubs' farm system in 1959 after graduating from Colton High School, where he was an outstanding all-around athlete.

The youngster is the second straight Cub to take the rookie award. It went to outfielder Billy Williams in 1961.

Local Dog Takes Honors At Show

The African Basenji, Mi Zingo of Katanga, a member of the local obedience school and owned by Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton was a recent show winner.

Hall Explains Ticket Sale For Alliance Tilt

There will not be an advanced sale of tickets in East Liverpool for the Potter - Alliance basketball game Saturday night in Alliance, Merrill Hall, ELHS athletic director, announced. All tickets on sale at the door will be general admission and are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Only Aviator season ticket patrons will receive reserved seat tickets.

Aliulis Also Leading Beaver Candidates

Beaver Local coach Tom McCall said he overlooked a leading prospect for his squad in discussing the Beavers 1962-63 outlook. The player is John Aliulis, a 5-foot-11 senior who saw some varsity action last season and is one of the better rebounders on the squad.

Potters Meet Alliance In First Big Eight Game Saturday

East Liverpool and Alliance will square off in the first Big 8 League game of the season Saturday night — one of 16 contests scheduled for district teams this weekend.

Nine games Friday will see most of the area teams getting their first taste of the new campaign. All teams will have at least one game under their belt after Saturday night with the exception of Chester, which will launch its season Tuesday at home against Newell in an afternoon game beginning at 2:30.

LISBON will invade Wellsville Friday night with one of the tallest clubs to come from the county seat in several years. Coach Gary Pike of Lisbon will need all the height he can muster, however, since Wellsville probably will floor its biggest club since the days of Bevo Francis.

Midland will be after its second straight after pulling a mild upset last Saturday when the Hank Kuzma magic worked for a victory over East Liverpool. The Leopards will entertain a strong Ambridge five Friday night.

OVER in Hancock County, Coach John Robison will send his charges after their third straight win at New Cumberland. Newell hasn't had much trouble in dumping Augusta and South Side.

Most of the teams in Columbiana County will be busy Friday night. Openers are set for Leetonia, which plays host to North Lima; Columbiana travels to Springfield Local, and Salem takes on Columbus East at home.

United will be in its home opener and meet Minerva. The Golden Eagles dropped their first start last Saturday.

SALINEVILLE and Stanton Local both will be seeking their first success of the season when the Indians invade the Stanton gym Friday night.

SEVEN GAMES are set Saturday. A big contest of local interest puts Beaver Local at Wellsville. The Beavers, like most teams the Tigers will face this season, are far under the size of McDevitt's crew.

Stanton Local will visit Wayne Saturday, while Crestview, which has one victory in two starts this season, will play at Salineville.

Columbiana will visit North Lima, East Palestine will go to Springfield Local and West Branch will be at Lisbon.

Offense Title Captured By Arizona Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Arizona State University wound up the college football season as the biggest offensive threat in the country and Mississippi proved the stingiest team on the gridiron, according to NCAA final statistics released today.

The Sun Devils, who completed a 7-2-1 campaign, averaged 384.4 yards a game, almost 10 more than runner-up Oregon State, which had a 375.2 mark.

The Buckeyes rolled up an average 278.9 yards a game, winning that title by a large margin over resurgent Oklahoma, which had a 265.9 mark. The Sooners also were third in total offense as they finished an 8-2 season.

Tulsa won in the aerial race with 199.3 yards a game to 195.3 for No. 2 Northwestern.

Minnesota allowed only 52.2 yards a game on the ground to take the rushing defense championship and New Mexico permitted 56.8 yards a game in the air to win the forward pass defense crown.

Neck Injury Puts EL Wrestler In Hospital

Gola Traded To New York

DETROIT (AP) — With two teammates traded away, the New York Knicks were all fired up as they snapped a five-game losing streak in spanking the Chicago Zephyrs 133-117 in the opener of a National Basketball Association doubleheader here Wednesday night.

The Knicks, bogged down in the NBA Eastern Division cellar, hope to improve their lot tonight when Tom Gola joins the team at Cincinnati.

Gola was obtained by New York Wednesday in a trade with the San Francisco Warriors. The trade sent Kenny Sears and Willie Naulls to San Francisco.

In the second game of the doubleheader, the Detroit Pistons, who have been floundering around in the league's Western Division, had a three-game winning streak broken by the world champion Boston Celtics 106-93.

49ers' Kilmer Injures Leg In Auto Accident

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco 49er halfback Bill Kilmer suffered a compound fracture of his right leg Wednesday night when his convertible sped off a freeway in suburban Belmont, ran over a cement sign base, continued 435 feet across a field and landed in a gully of water.

The right side of the car and part of Kilmer lay in the water until rescuers pried open a car door and lifted Kilmer to safety, the California Highway patrol said.

The former UCLA star had been driving alone north on the Bayshore Freeway when he passed a car, then apparently lost control of his auto.

"He can't explain what happened," said 49er Coach Red Hickey, who rushed to see Kilmer in San Mateo Community Hospital, as soon as he heard of the accident.

After emergency care, Kilmer was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

X-rays had not been fully evaluated, said 49er team physician Dr. Lloyd Milburn.

Milburn emphasized that the fracture was a major injury. But he said its too early to tell if it might mean the end of Kilmer's football career.

Western Beaver Nipped By St. Veronica, 44-43

The new Western Beaver High School came within one point of chalking up its first official victory before bowing to St. Veronica, 44-43, Wednesday at Ambridge.

Gary Brandt, leading scorer for Western Beaver, had a chance to tie the game with a foul shot in the last 10 seconds but missed giving St. Veronica the victory.

After the winners took an 11-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, Western Beaver rallied to take a 22-20 halftime lead but then fell behind 39-33 at the end of the third period.

Brandt's 14 points topped all scorers while Dave Good and Ed McCullough had 13 and 12 points respectively for St. Veronica.

Offense Title Captured By Arizona Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Arizona State University wound up the college football season as the biggest offensive threat in the country and Mississippi proved the stingiest team on the gridiron, according to NCAA final statistics released today.

The Sun Devils, who completed a 7-2-1 campaign, averaged 384.4 yards a game, almost 10 more than runner-up Oregon State, which had a 375.2 mark.

The Rebels, who take their 9-0 record into the Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl, allowed only 142.2 yards a game edging Memphis State, with a 147.1 average.

Ohio State was tops in rushing offense, Tulsa the leader in passing, Minnesota No. 1 in rushing defense and New Mexico first in passing defense.

The Buckeyes rolled up an average 278.9 yards a game, winning that title by a large margin over resurgent Oklahoma, which had a 265.9 mark. The Sooners also were third in total offense as they finished an 8-2 season.

Tulsa won in the aerial race with 199.3 yards a game to 195.3 for No. 2 Northwestern.

Minnesota allowed only 52.2 yards a game on the ground to take the rushing defense championship and New Mexico permitted 56.8 yards a game in the air to win the forward pass defense crown.

Gola Traded To New York

DETROIT (AP) — With two teammates traded away, the New York Knicks were all fired up as they snapped a five-game losing streak in spanking the Chicago Zephyrs 133-117 in the opener of a National Basketball Association doubleheader here Wednesday night.

The Knicks, bogged down in the NBA Eastern Division cellar, hope to improve their lot tonight when Tom Gola joins the team at Cincinnati.

Gola was obtained by New York Wednesday in a trade with the San Francisco Warriors. The trade sent Kenny Sears and Willie Naulls to San Francisco.

In the second game of the doubleheader, the Detroit Pistons, who have been floundering around in the league's Western Division, had a three-game winning streak broken by the world champion Boston Celtics 106-93.

No other games were scheduled.

49ers' Kilmer Injures Leg In Auto Accident

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco 49er halfback Bill Kilmer suffered a compound fracture of his right leg Wednesday night when his convertible sped off a freeway in suburban Belmont, ran over a cement sign base, continued 435 feet across a field and landed in a gully of water.

The right side of the car and part of Kilmer lay in the water until rescuers pried open a car door and lifted Kilmer to safety, the California Highway patrol said.

The former UCLA star had been driving alone north on the Bayshore Freeway when he passed a car, then apparently lost control of his auto.

"He can't explain what happened," said 49er Coach Red Hickey, who rushed to see Kilmer in San Mateo Community Hospital, as soon as he heard of the accident.

After emergency care, Kilmer was transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in San Francisco.

Milburn emphasized that the fracture was a major injury. But he said its too early to tell if it might mean the end of Kilmer's football career.

Western Beaver Nipped By St. Veronica, 44-43

The new Western Beaver High School came within one point of chalking up its first official victory before bowing to St. Veronica, 44-43, Wednesday at Ambridge.

Gary Brandt, leading scorer for Western Beaver, had a chance to tie the game with a foul shot in the last 10 seconds but missed giving St. Veronica the victory.

After the winners took an 11-9 lead at the end of the first quarter, Western Beaver rallied to take a 22-20 halftime lead but then fell behind 39-33 at the end of the third period.

Brandt's 14 points topped all scorers while Dave Good and Ed McCullough had 13 and 12 points respectively for St. Veronica.

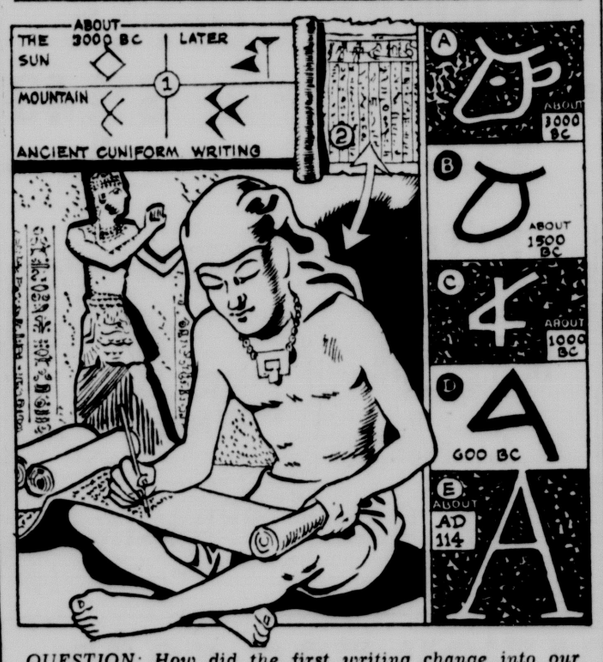
Junior Editors Quiz on THE ALPHABET



QUESTION: How did the first writing change into our alphabet?

ANSWER: Before real writing, people used pictures of things, or "pictographs." But the Sumerians, an ancient people who were developing civilization by raising crops and trading, needed something better to record business transactions. To draw 35 pictures of cows for the record "I sold 35 cows" was too much work. So they invented simple signs, some to stand for words and some for syllables of their language. A few signs could convey many meanings. Beginning about 3100 B. C., this system was man's most important step toward writing. Soon the symbols were made by tools with wedge shaped points, which could be pressed into wet clay (1). Meanwhile the Egyptians developed a similar system called "hieroglyphic," at first carved in stone, then written on reed paper (2). Other nations borrowed and improved these systems. Gradually the pictures dropped out and the symbols began to stand not for words or syllables but for letters. A to E shows how an Egyptian ox head symbol (A) became simplified (B,C) turned into the Greek letter "alpha" (D) and finally into the Roman A.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can write but can you make a pictograph? See if you can make a set of pictures which say "I found a dollar" and send it to a friend to see if he or she makes anything of it

Mr. Shnoo's Zoo

BY LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER FOUR

"No," said a voice close by. "You're not out of your head."

Turning in astonishment, Mr. Shnoo saw a fat little man perched on the fence. He was dressed all in red and had rosy cheeks and a white beard. He was smoking a little white pipe and nodding and smiling as he watched the reindeer spinning over head.

"Why, you're . . ."began Mr. Shnoo.

Mr. Shnoo nearly toppled over with surprise. "You mean—Santa Claus?"

"The same," said the little fat man. He sucked at his pipe and blew out a cloud of smoke that almost hid him from sight. When he appeared again he was off the fence and standing beside Mr. Shnoo. "The reindeer are magnificent," he said. "You must be very proud."

"But—I don't understand," said Mr. Shnoo. "When I left them tonight they couldn't fly at all. I've worked with them for days and days with no success at all. To tell you the truth, I had given up hoping." He looked up in wonder as the deer did a triple somersault through the stars and Horace, the leader, carried away by sheer joy of it all, finished off with a full gainer layout and a swan dive besides.

"Pshaw!" said Santa. "Getting them to fly was nothing." He reached into a little bag he carried over his back and pulled out a small blue jar. "Flying pills," he said. "Very useful things to have. I took the liberty of giving one to each of the deer. To Horace I gave two because he seemed a bit down in the mouth.

"This may have been a mistake," he added as Horace suddenly swooped low and buzzed Mr. Shnoo's head.

"My word!" cried Mr. Shnoo, ducking out of the way. "What wonderful pills! Do you suppose you might leave me some? Just think what a zoo I would have!"

He had a sudden vision of Molly, the hippopotamus, and Henrietta, the elephant, light as feather pillows, sailing through the air.

Horace finished off with a full gainer.

Santa shook his head. "Wouldn't do at all," he said. "Every creature would be flying off and the whole nature of things would be turned topsy turvy."

Mr. Shnoo had to admit this was so. "Although," he said longingly, "it would be a wonderful thing to make all the animals in the zoo as happy as Horace."

"Your animals are happy," said Santa. "I have never seen so happy a zoo."

"It is not mine yet," said Mr. Shnoo. "I must pay 1,000 gold pieces before Christmas day or I shall lose it. However, I am not worried as I hope to have the thousand in good time."

—:—

HE TOLD Santa how the Queen was inspecting all the zoos in the kingdom and was going to make an award to the finest one.

"I think she will like Shnoo's Zoo," said he. "Then I shall pay off Crookshank and the zoo will be mine."

Santa nodded. Then he said, "Day is breaking. I had better be off. I'd much rather stay here for I dearly love a zoo but I suppose there's work aplenty waiting for me at home."

He placed his fingers in his mouth and whistled. The flying deer wheeled about and coasted back to earth.

As he spoke there came a terrible sound. Somewhere an animal roared in pain.

"It's one of the bears!" cried Mr. Shnoo. "Oh, goodness me!"

He turned on his heels and rushed away with Santa beside him. Past the duck pond, past the antelope pastures, past the prairie dog hills they tore until they came to the caves of the bears. There was Nancy, the polar bear, and Daisy and Henry, the black bears, and Ernest, the hybrid. There was not a sign of trouble.

Then there came that fearful roar again and Mr. Shnoo clapped his hands to his head.

U.S. Delegates Heartened From U.S.-Soviet Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —U.N. delegates took heart today from two U.S.-Soviet agreements on scientific cooperation in a series of space experiments and on the general economic benefits of disarmament.

Delegates expressed guarded hope that the two agreements, together with the easing of the Cuban crisis, signaled a period of comparative harmony in East-West relations.

At Geneva, however, disarmament negotiators were deadlocked as tight as ever on the key issue of controls.

In short, the Soviets and the West were agreed on the great benefits disarmament would bring, but they were no nearer agreement on disarmament itself.

Adlai E. Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate at the United Nations, hailed the limited agreement on cooperation in space as a "practical demonstration that our nations can, despite political differences, cooperate in a highly important field of human endeavor."

The fruit of a broad agreement between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev early in the year, it provides for scientists of the two nations to work together in the use of earth satellites in communications, weather forecasting and mapping of the earth's magnetic field.

The agreement was worked out in summary at Geneva last June by Hugh L. Dryden, deputy director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and Soviet academician Anatoly A. Blagonravov.

Kennedy's Trip Friday Holds Symbolic Meaning

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP) — President Kennedy's trip to Los Alamos Friday holds a symbolic meaning for this country's history.

On that day in 1941 World War II started and it was from that war that Los Alamos started work on the atomic bomb. The bomb ended the war.

In a way, Los Alamos was spawned on that date and it is conceivable that without that event it would still be a mountain retreat for boys instead of a hustling city of 13,500 persons busily engaged in supersecret nuclear experiments.

The President has never been to Los Alamos. He will find a community that is spread across the Pajarito Plateau—a series of finger mesas created by long-ago extinct volcanos—in the Jemez Mountains.

It sits almost atop a mountain at 7,300 feet. The only access is by airplane, helicopter or on a twisting, turning mountain road. The Hill City, as it is called by the natives, is 35 miles northwest of Santa Fe and 96 miles north of Albuquerque.

It has only been since February 1957 that the high, wire fence and the pistol-packing guards were removed. But a supersecret complex has remained with the city.

Probably the sensitive nuclear work and the inaccessibility of the city have helped to develop this complex.

One of the main reasons for the President's coming to Los Alamos is to inspect the work being done to build a nuclear reactor to propel space ships into prolonged flights to the moon or the planets. The project is called Rover, which is a part of Nerva (nuclear engine for rocket vehicle application).

The Kiwi reactors, named after the flightless birds of New Zealand, are being developed as engines for the giant space ships.

Project Rover was set up in 1955 under the Atomic Energy Commission but has been taken over by the Space Nuclear Propulsion Office, a governmental agency staffed by personnel from the AEC and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The first planned use of Project Rover is the development of a nuclear third stage for the Saturn C5 manned lunar landing operation. With the nuclear third stage, a single vehicle would be all that would be needed for a landing and a return from the moon. Otherwise, a chemical-fueled rocket would require two-launch renezvous of C5s or the development of a much larger chemical rocket.

The most important advantage of nuclear rockets is that they can use hydrogen as propellant. Hydrogen is more than a dozen times lighter, per particle, than the combustion products used to propel chemical rockets.

Rover reactors must generate great power on small fuel volume. To create the rather modest thrust of 50,000 pounds a reactor must produce about one million BTU per second, or enough energy to boil away a ton of water every two seconds.

Organization Set In Student Loan Project For Area

A community organization meeting for a student loan project of the East Liverpool Jaycees will be held early in January, officers of the group announced today.

Plans for a $1 membership drive to provide initial funds for the project were outlined at a meeting of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation of the East Liverpool Area Wednesday night.

The project, which will be placed on a community participation basis, calls for creation of funds to be loaned to send worthy students to college.

The area served will include the school districts of East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Beaver Local, and may be enlarged later.

The money will be loaned without interest to the student, to be repaid after graduation.

Many good cooks insist that water, rather than milk, is best to use in a puffy omelet, and they use hot rather than cold water. A tablespoon of the hot water is sometimes added for each egg used in the omelet.
